Vancouver Trio In Custody As Bank Slaying Is Traced

Three Young Men Found in House During Sudden Night Raid by Police Seeking Those Who Shot W. H. Hobbs in Bank Hold-up Two Days Ago; Revolvers and Bills Under Bed; Warrants Out for Two Others

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 17.—Three men are in custody and warrants have been issued for the arrest of two others as police proceed to clear up the robbery of a branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce here on Wednesday in which William Hobbs, teller, was fatally shot. Manager Thomas Winsby was wounded in the arm and side and $1,200 in cash was taken.

In a late night raid police, armed for any emergency and carrying tear-gas bombs, threw a cordon around a house in Vancouver's east end. They entered under the leadership of Chief W. W. Foster and arrested Earl Dunbar, thirty-two; Charles Russell, twenty-five, and William Davies, thirty-one. One of the men attempted to dash up a flight of stairs, but was easily captured, and the other two submitted without a struggle.

Warrants were issued for the arrest of Jack Hyslop, twenty-three, and George Flindley Lawson, thirty-five. Police term these men members of the "Hyslop" gang.

Laying of charges against the arrested men has been delayed pending questioning. Chief Foster in an official statement said police had "arrested three suspects and found revolvers, ammunition and money—both bills and silver—on the premises."

The chief added: "A written confession was made regarding the holding up of the Bank of Commerce, in which there was such a deplorable loss of a valuable life."

HELD AS WITNESS
D. McNeil, whose automobile, police state, was used by the bandits after they had discarded the stolen taxi cab with which they carried out Wednesday's robbery, is being held as a material witness. Police also wish to locate Fred Healy, forty-one, a taxi driver, who is alleged to have rented several weeks ago the house in which the arrests were made.

Poor Sale Of Bonds Surprise

Underwriters in London Left With Half Australian Issue on Hands

By THOMAS T. CHAMPTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Jan. 17.—Underwriters of Australia's large conversion and subscription loan were left to-day with 50 per cent of the issue on their hands. The total was £21,000,000 (about $105,000,000).

Holders of New South Wales 5 per cent bonds were invited to convert them into 3 per cent Commonwealth bonds. Cash subscriptions at 95½ were also invited.

The unfavorable response to the issue was not unexpected in financial circles. It is considered to be due to exceptional market conditions and not to any lack of confidence in Australian credit.

GOVERNOR STOUTLY DEFENDS REPRIEVE FOR HAUPTMANN

Harold G. Hoffman, New Jersey, Answers Impeachment Talk; Says He Shares Public's Doubts About Trial and Seeks Only Justice

Associated Press
Trenton, N.J., Jan. 17.—Governor Harold G. Hoffman in a formal statement said to-day: "If impeachment is a price that must be paid for daring to follow the dictates of my own conscience, I am ready to pay it."

He referred to certain newspaper criticism of his action in granting a thirty-day reprieve to Bruno Richard Hauptmann, sentenced to die for the kidnap-slaying of the baby of Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh.

The Governor said he did "question the truthfulness and mental competency of some of the chief witnesses for the state" (against Hauptmann).

"I do doubt that this crime could have been committed by any one man," he added, "and I am worried about the eagerness of some of our law enforcement agencies to bring about the death of this one man."

"I make no apology for granting a reprieve in this case," he continued.

Nine Convicted in Big French Swindle Case; Eleven Freed of Charges

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

Paris, Jan. 17.—France's great Stavisky scandal closed to-day with conviction of only nine of the twenty defendants accused of complicity in the vast swindles which led to rioting in the streets of Paris and the collapse of a French cabinet.

Mme. Arlette Simon Stavisky, widow of the swindler, and ten others were acquitted on charges of complicity in the $10,000,000 fraud.

"Extenuating circumstances" were found in the cases of all those convicted except Gustave Tassier, manager of the Bayonne municipal pawnshop. His confession broke the case and sent Stavisky fleeing to the mountain cabin where he died of a pistol wound, described by police as "self-inflicted."

Rome Says Ethiopians in South Dispersed; No Big Battle, Say Natives

Associated Press
Rome, Jan. 17.—Four thousand Ethiopians have died in the raging battle on the southern Eritrean front, with the Italians still pursuing the fleeing enemy, Marshal Pietro Badoglio, commander-in-chief of the Italian armies in East Africa, reported to-day.

"The Gannale Doria battle begun January 12 by Gen. Rodolfo Graziani has ended in complete victory," Marshal Badoglio's communique, relayed from the northern front, said.

"The enemy is completely routed. The last resistance of the Ethiopian rear guard has been beaten along the entire front and Ras Desta Demtu's troops are abandoning themselves to flight along caravan routes to the northwest."

"In some sectors, our armored cars yesterday had advanced 120 kilometers from their bases."

"Perfect co-ordination of infantry, tanks, artillery and aviation has greatly increased the enemy losses. Up until yesterday we had counted 4,000 dead."

London, Jan. 17 (Associated Press).—Rudyard Kipling's gallant will kept the spark of life still flickering to-day, but attaches at the hospital where he lay in a coma said the end apparently was a matter of hours.

A hospital bulletin at 1 p.m. said the seventy-year-old bard's condition was "unchanged and still very critical."

U.S. Leader of Expedition and Widely-known Pilot From Canadian Northland Came Down Only Twenty Miles Short of Little America After Flying Across Antarctic Continent; Unable to Send News to World for Fifty-five Days Because Radio Transmitter Damaged; Now Aboard S.S. Discovery II

Associated Press
London, Jan. 17.—A British relief expedition flashed back from the Antarctic to-day word of the dramatic rescue of Lincoln Ellsworth and Pilot Herbert Hollick-Kenyon of Winnipeg, long-lost explorers, found alive and well in the frozen wastes of Little America.

After piercing ice locking the Bay of Whales, a British Royal Research ship located the United States explorer and his pilot, safely landed there, having exhausted their fuel on a bold projected flight across the South Polar regions.

Ellsworth was taken aboard ship, the Discovery II, wireless the Colonial Office late to-day. The message said: "Ship's party returned with Ellsworth January 16." Hollick-Kenyon already had gone aboard.

The explorers' long silence was due to a damaged radio transmitter, the Colonial Office announced.

FOUND ENCAPSED
A landing party from the Discovery II finally found them comfortably encamped on the face of the great ice barrier.

Not since shortly after they took off November 23 from Dundee Island, far south of Cape Horn, across the South Polar regions for the Ross Sea, south of New Zealand, had any word been received from the daring fliers. Hope for their safety was fading—even abandoned by some.

A terse, seven-word message from the master of the Discovery II ended this morning the seven weeks of anxiety.

"Ellsworth and Kenyon are both alive and well," said that message to the Colonial Office, headquarters of the committee directing the Discovery's work.

DISCOVERY DESCRIBED
The Colonial Office later received a graphic, complete message from the master of the Discovery II, describing the finding of the men.

Ellsworth and Hollick-Kenyon were safe.

LAST RITES FOR LATE PRELATE

fore he walked. Before he was a year old Timothy flew with his father 700 miles into the Canadian north, where his young mother, fresh from England, made a home for the small family in a log shack that lacked a vestige of furniture.

Little Timothy's first memories are of airplanes and a leather-helmeted father who was continually winging his way to far places. His baby ears heard the "thump-thump" of the engine in the still northern air that meant "Daddy" was coming home.

"I came from England in 1920 with the two children," said Mrs. Hollick-Kenyon. "Mary was then four and a half years and Timothy was eleven months."

"We landed in Montreal and took a train to Winnipeg, where we boarded a plane for our long trip into the bush. It was the first flight for the children. Timothy slept most of the time, quite unconscious of the fact he was one of the first babies to have flown 700 miles over the wilderness."

"The bush was all new to me. We flew north over The Pas and Prince Albert and landed at Emma Lake. There was an attractive-looking log cabin. I was told it was my home. NO STOVE THERE.

"When I went inside I was astonished to find there was not a thing in it—not even a stove. What passed for furniture in the north had failed to arrive before we did."

"My husband said with a whimsical smile 'Is there anything you'd like?' I said: 'Nothing, thanks, except some water with which to wash the children.'"

"We managed to do that and then I got into a canoe for the first time in my life and was paddled a mile and a half to our nearest neighbor. I had never paddled a canoe before, but I sat the children in the bottom of the canoe. Luckily, their astonishment was so great they sat perfectly still."

"I have been farther north since then. I had a thrilling trip over the barren lands one summer. We landed at Reveston. There post hundreds of miles from civilization. The trader, who lives quite alone, had been out of supplies for a month."

"I don't think he knew whether I was a man or woman when I stepped from the plane. For that matter he had not seen a white woman for years. When my husband introduced us the trader bowed and said: 'You have the distinction of being the first white woman in this country.'"

"NORTHERN FRIENDS

"We love the north. We love to think of our experiences up there and the warm friendships we made. I look back on many happy evenings when we gathered around the stove and tried to see who could fry the juiciest caribou steak."

"Yes, I am used to waiting for news—long waiting. When my husband was assisting in the search for Col. Macpherson in the far north in 1929 I had only two radio messages from him in three months."

Then, recalling her husband's often expressed faith that she would never fall to "carry on" even when hope might be abandoned, she exclaimed: "You'll tell them, won't you, that I never lost confidence he would be found alive."

CHILDREN INFORMED

Her part thoughts were of their two children, six-year-old Timothy and Mary Lea, aged nine. "They will be overjoyed," she said. "I must rush home to tell them."

She had walked a mile over snow-covered roads to the nearest telephone to hear the glad news that her flier-husband was alive and well and the return journey to the farm of her mother-in-law, Mrs. A. H. Kenyon, would seem over-long before she reached the tiny home where the two children and their grandmother waited to hear whether the tidings were good or bad.

MISSED AT CHRISTMAS

"We haven't given the children much cause to worry," she said. "They have been thinking of their 'daddy' all right and have missed him a lot, but they have always felt sure he would be back soon."

"One day Timothy said to me, 'Over up mummy, daddy is all right.'"

"They missed their father most at Christmas time; but we had a good Christmas despite our anxiety and, in fact, I think the excitement of Christmas and the New Year helped to pass the time of anxiety more easily."

The others were: Joseph Grant, a member of the Chamber of Deputies and former mayor of Bayonne, where Stavisky established his municipal pawnshop.

Henri Cohen, appraiser at the Bayonne pawnshop. Raoul Desbrosses, manager of the Orleans pawnshop.

Paul Guehin, a bond salesman. Henri Hayotte, implicated by the prosecution in a fake emerald deal.

George Hatot, an actor who often played the role of a millionaire on the stage and whom the prosecution charged Stavisky hired to play the same role in real life.

Joseph Bardi de Fourtoul, a retired general, charged with lending his name to Stavisky's swindles.

Gaston Bonnaire, member of the Chamber of Deputies.

SMILES AT ACQUITTAL

Madame Stavisky, a former mannequin, dressed quietly but smartly in black, smiled broadly for the first time since the tragedy began, when she heard her acquittal.

"I have suffered much, especially during the long months in prison before the trial," she said, "but now I am happy, particularly for my children. Justice has been done."

Some of the convicted defendants wept at the verdicts returned by the jury. They will be sentenced later.

The noted poet and novelist became unconscious at 4:30 a.m. (8:30 p.m. Thursday, P.S.T.).

NIGHT BULLETINS

The Middlesex Hospital, in the private Woolavington wing of which he underwent the operation last Monday for a perforated stomach ulcer, followed a series of favorable bulletins throughout the night, indicating the author was falling gradually.

The seventy-year-old writer's wife, the former Caroline Balestier of New York, and their daughter, drove soon after midnight, through the snow falling quietly over London, to the hospital in the central district of the city known as "Old Soho."

They were called to the sickroom at Mr. Kipling's own wish. They sat at his bedside, and although the patient was completely exhausted and unable to speak, he recognized them at first.

When daylight came, hospital authorities said:

"There is no change in his condition. His wife, daughter and surgeon are still watching over him."

GOVERNOR STOUTLY DEFENDS REPRIEVE FOR HAUPTMANN

WILL GIVE REASONS

He said he intended to give "in due course" his reasons for doubting that Hauptmann alone committed the kidnapping.

Hauptmann, he went on, "to the best of my knowledge has made no confession and has offered to make none."

The Governor said a representative of a New York newspaper, "in my presence and in the presence of many witnesses," had offered Hauptmann $75,000 for an exclusive confession.

"This offer was rejected," the Governor said. "Likewise, when Hauptmann was told that his only chance to save his life was to go before the board of pardons, say 'I am guilty,' and throw himself on the mercy of the court, he spurned the opportunity."

WANTS JUSTICE

"I am interested in the preservation of that thing we have rather proudly called 'Versey justice' and I hope that real and full justice will be done in this case. A stay of a comparatively few days can not defeat that end."

"Imprecation proceedings represent only one of the threats leveled against me," the Governor said, "if I elected to follow my own sense of duty in this matter. I do not fear them."

"I am moved by no maudlin sentiment in this matter. I am the father of three children. I look on kidnapping as one of the most dastardly of crimes."

SHARES DOUBTS

"I have never expressed an opinion on the guilt or innocence of Hauptmann," the Governor's statement said. "I do, however, share with hundreds of thousands of our people the doubt as to the value of the evidence that placed him in the Lindbergh nursery on the night of the crime. I do wonder what part passion and prejudice played in the conviction of a man who was previously tried and convicted in the courts of many of our newspapers."

VISITED BY WIFE

Mrs. Anna Hauptmann visited her husband in the death house to-day, and when she came out she was smiling happily.

"We shall all soon be together again," she said, "and we shall be very happy."

SEARCH FOR EVIDENCE

Trenton, N.J., Jan. 17 (Associated Press).—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's thirty-day reprieve spurred a defence search to-day for new evidence and raised the possibility Governor Harold G. Hoffman might question Dr. John F. Condon about his story of the Lindbergh ransom negotiations.

The governor, who dramatically stayed Hauptmann's electrocution twenty-nine hours before the scheduled time, has expressed a desire to interrogate "Jafse" on purported discrepancies between his court testimony and a series of articles on the crime written by him for a magazine.

Dr. Condon and his daughter, Mrs. Myra Hacker, were aboard a ship which docked to-day at Cristobal, Panama Canal Zone, their first stop on a southern cruise. "I do not know if I am returning," said Dr. Condon.

The reprieve period and the additional four to eight weeks required by legal processes would make it possible for Dr. Condon to return here before the new date for Hauptmann's electrocution.

The Governor, who has interested himself in the case since his visit to Hauptmann's cell last October, divulged no details of his plans.

The Governor's eleventh-hour intervention, made after he had talked with Mrs. Hauptmann in her hotel room, brought a call from the Trenton State Gazette and The Trenton Evening Times for his impeachment.

Governor Harold G. Hoffman has sacrificed all moral and legal right to serve as chief executive of New Jersey. He should be impeached and removed from office," said The State Gazette.

The papers, under the same ownership, are independent politically. Governor Hoffman is a Republican. His party controls each branch of the Legislature.

"Just a dream," Mr. Hoffman said of the impeachment talk.

The Governor said he would sign the reprieve papers and send them at once to the prison where Hauptmann was to have been electrocuted at 8 o'clock this evening.

FISHERMEN SHOUT

The prison population, learning what had happened over the prison "grapevine," took up the cry: "Hauptmann! Hauptmann! Reprieve! Reprieve!"

The prisoners were for him. Or all those behind the sombre brownstone walls, Hauptmann appeared most calm.

"He was deeply and humanly touched," said Attorney C. Lloyd Fisher, who took the news to him. "He said he had felt all day that something would happen—that somebody would step forward—to prove his innocence."

First break in her husband's favor in eleven months, cried and wept Mrs. Hauptmann.

"God be thanked, my only wish is that the real truth of the terrible Lindbergh kidnapping will come out, that the terrible people who did this thing will either come before the Governor or be caught."

CONDON AT CRISTOBAL

Cristobal, C.Z., Jan. 17.—Dr. John F. "Jafse" Condon, key figure in the Lindbergh kidnapping case, arrived from the United States to-day aboard the liner Santa Rita and said: "I do not know if I am returning."

"That might depend on any authority," the elderly former schoolmaster added.

He did not explain what he meant by "authority."

Dr. Condon, who identified Bruno Richard Hauptmann as the man to whom he paid the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom, left New York last week with his daughter, Mrs. Myra Hacker, for a vacation cruise.

Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey, who yesterday granted Hauptmann a thirty-day reprieve from execution, has expressed a desire to interrogate "Jafse" on purported differences in his testimony at Hauptmann's trial and in magazine articles which Dr. Condon has written.

Dr. Condon, who breakfasted aboard the ship and read accounts of the Hauptmann reprieve, said he had "no comment whatever on the case."

"I came for a rest and I am taking it," he said. "I have no comment to make whatever."

NEWS FOR BRITISH

London, Jan. 17 (Associated Press).—The thirty-day reprieve of Bruno Richard Hauptmann from execution in the electric chair for the kidnapping murder of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. was bannered in flaring headlines to-day on front pages of most British newspapers.

The London Daily Sketch's headline read: "Hauptmann not to die. 'Thirty days'—then?"

The London News-Chronicle stated it had called the Trenton prison on the transatlantic telephone and had spoken to C. Lloyd Fisher, chief defence counsel, within ten minutes after Hauptmann had received news of the reprieve by Governor Hoffman.

"Hauptmann has a real chance of life yet," Fisher was quoted in The News-Chronicle.

"Hauptmann saved for three months," "but the cell of 'torture' goes on," read The Daily Mirror's streamers.

Ellsworth and Hollick-Kenyon Safe

SENT MESSAGE TOO SOON

Relatives of Hollick-Kenyon in London had given up hope two weeks ago for his rescue.

His aunt, Mrs. M. V. Kenyon, wife of the mayor of Paddington, said, "We thought six weeks was the limit. We had no news and feared the worst."

"Only a few days ago, my husband wrote Herbert's mother in Canada, commending her for the loss of her son."

REWARD OF ENTERPRISE

Delighted at the news the men had been found, Admiral Sir William Goodenough, former president of the Royal Geographical Society, asserted: "That shows what enterprise can do when carried out with forethought."

Pointing out it was often difficult to communicate by wireless from the south polar regions because of atmospheric conditions, Sir William commented on the news:

"The whole world will rejoice to know these two brave men have come through safely."

FIRST WORD

First word that Ellsworth and Hollick-Kenyon, objects of an intensive search, might at last have been found came with receipt of a message yesterday from the Discovery II that it had sighted an airplane and a man on the Bay of Whales.

Neither airship nor man, however, was then identified.

MESSAGE FROM AUSTRALIA

Prime Minister Joseph A. Lyons of Australia, which country sponsored the Discovery's voyage with the British Government, sent a message of congratulation to the captain of the vessel.

Twenty-two years ago the Discovery went to the rescue of Admiral Byrd, getting a doctor to him from New Zealand.

The Discovery carries two airplanes, fitted at the expense of the Australian government, several floats and a number of sledges which could be hauled by men, if necessary. The ship has no dogs.

The vessel's hurried trip to Little America, made with the authorization of the British Government, forced the Discovery to give up its own scientific survey in Antarctica, as the channels were not navigable for a month or two at most.

The explorers, Ellsworth and Hollick-Kenyon, were last heard from November 23 when they started their hazardous airplane flight across Antarctica from Dundee Island to the Ross Sea.

Dundee Island is 600 miles south of Cape Horn, southernmost tip of South America, and the Ross Sea is south of New Zealand.

Although some despair for their safety as long days passed with no further word after their take-off, experienced explorers contended they might have been unreported simply because they were out of wireless range.

The British and Australian governments finally launched their rescue expedition January 1, the Discovery II sailing from Dunedin, N.Z., bearing stores of supplies and two airplanes, designed to make searching flights if the ship could not locate the men.

Another rescue vessel, the Wyatt Earp, supply ship of the Ellsworth Expedition, was en route to Little America under the command of Sir Hubert Wilkins to join the search.

The Wyatt Earp bore a plane flown from the United States to South America by Dick Merrill and equipped with skis and pontoons also to undertake searching flights.

J. H. Lymburner, Montreal flier, accompanied Sir Hubert on the Wyatt Earp. He was one of Ellsworth's party on the last camp.

Pilot's Success Pleases Fliers

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Jan. 17.—Fur-clad flying men of Canada's northern air trails were jubilant to-day at news their comrade, Herbert Hollick-Kenyon of Winnipeg, was reported safe at Little America, at the end of the world, with Explorer Lincoln Ellsworth.

Hollick-Kenyon is regarded as one of the best and most experienced of Canadian Arctic fliers, and was superintendent of the northern Manitoba district for Canadian Airways when Ellsworth chose him as No. 1 pilot for the Antarctic venture.

Not only flying folk, but all the people of northern Canadian settlements, where airplanes are as common as trains are in the more densely populated areas, had been anxious over the fate of Hollick-Kenyon for nearly two months.

They had condoned in his wide experience at flying in sub-zero weather, battling Arctic winds and blizzards and navigating a plane over limitless expanses of glaring ice and dazzling snow, but feared he might have been forced to land in the uninhabited wastes of Antarctica.

INFORMED BY RADIO

The whining sputter of airport short-wave radios spread the good tidings he was safe to-day and northern land airplanes droning about their daily business carrying furs, mining machinery, mail and supplies among Arctic outposts aided in spreading the news.

Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, a quiet Englishman, came to Canada in 1909 from London, where he was born in 1917. His family settled as fruit farmers in the pretty Okanagan Valley in British Columbia. Hollick-Kenyon served overseas with the infantry and took up flying after the Great War, in England. He returned to Canada in 1928 and entered commercial aviation in its infancy in the Canadian west.

He soon gained a reputation as a dependable pilot with the Western Canada Airways and remained with the company when it was merged with Canadian Airways Limited.

MUCH EXPERIENCE

Hollick-Kenyon piled up 7,000 hours flying time speeding mails across the prairies, carrying prospectors by air to remote mining fields, freighting machinery, furs and supplies by air to outlying settlements, working at aerial surveys and taking stricken people to hospitals in the emergency "emergency flights" for which northern Canadian pilots always are ready.

His home is here, but the flier's wife and two young children are with his parents on the Okanagan fruit ranch at Ewing's Landing, B.C. Nine-year-old Mary Hollick-Kenyon and Timothy, six, are going to school there.

tion of the labor brief by W. T. Burford, executive officer and secretary of the Congress, and after representatives of the Catholic Federation had spoken briefly explaining their association. A. Charpentier of Montreal, representing the Catholic Federation, stated his organization was against repeal of Section 98.

A. R. Mosher, president of the Congress, asked the government to guard against any great displacement of railway and telegraph workers.

MANITOBA SPOUSION

J. Allan for Manitoba said the province took no stand on the constitutionality of the legislation, although it reserved the right to appeal from any judgment.

Samuel Quigg for Saskatchewan took the same attitude, while Alberta likewise expressed no opinion.

Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., of Toronto, wound up the case for the Dominion, arguing the statute did not invade provincial rights.

MAJORITY FOR LIBRARY GIVEN

Thirty-one Out of Thirty-eight Island Districts Favor Union Plan

With votes completed in thirty-eight out of the forty-four island districts interested, a majority of more than four to one by districts and nearly three to one in ballots has been recorded in favor of the union library plan, according to returns compiled to-day.

Only seven out of the thirty-eight districts voting have rejected the scheme. The unofficial total of all votes is 1,490 for and 504 against.

Latest votes reported are: Alberni, for 155, against 28; Duncan, for 58, against 172; Port Alberni, for 329, against 83; Cedar South, for 13, against 5; Nanaimo Bay, for 14, against 10; Red Gap, for 9, against 1; Wellington South, for 10, against 29.

Thirty-two out of sixty-two districts in the Okanagan have reported their votes with only one district opposed. In West Kootenay eighteen districts out of forty-six showed only three opposed.

Britain's Defence Plans Growing

A big replacement programme for the Navy, with provision for actual additions to naval strength when treaty obligations allow it.

A co-ordination and close co-operation between the armed forces controlled and paid for by various parts of the empire to effect this there may be established a body including representatives of all the Dominions to sit permanently in London.

Modernization and full equipment of strategic bases such as Singapore and Malta.

"Building airbases for home defence will also be speeded up," adds The Daily Express, and an arrangement with other parts of the empire will, it is hoped, release for home defence many airplanes in distant parts of the world.

The London Morning Post, continuing a series of articles which purport to reveal the "inside story" of the Hoare-Laval peace plan, asserted to-day that when the British fleet was sent to the eastern Mediterranean last August, the ships had an insufficient supply of ammunition.

So serious was the position, said The Morning Post, that if the supply had been expended in a sudden clash, the navy would

LLOYD GEORGE SEVENTY-THREE

Political Veteran of Great Britain Celebrates Birthday in Sunny French
Morocco: Writing New Volume of War Memoirs

Associated Press
Marrakesh, French Morocco, Jan. 17.—St. Hon. David Lloyd George, "grand old man" of British politics, was seventy-three years old today.

Far from the Westminster hurly-burly, he celebrated in this sunny, ancient Mohammedan city at the foot of the Atlas Mountains.

He came here, accompanied by the novelist Francis Brett Young and Mrs. Brett Young, immediately after winning again in the November general election the Caernarvon seat he has held for close to forty-six years.

Since arriving here "L. G." has been writing, playing golf and hobnobbing with local Arab chieftains in the native quarter.

When he is not golfing he is writing his new volume of war memoirs with an enthusiasm that indicates it may stir up as bitter a controversy as his last volume did.

He hopes to have the book near completion when he leaves for home toward the end of January—that is if his wife, "Mrs. Margaret," and his daughter, "Miss Megan," will let him. They left London recently to join him.

Indications are Mr. Lloyd George will leave politics alone now for some time to come, after the failure of his Council of Action for Peace and Reconstruction to achieve the results he hoped for.

For the most part he has now turned his irrepressible energy to writing and farming. He said recently that a few years of writing have fattened his purse far more than seventeen years of office, including six as Prime Minister, ever did.

Colonists Told To Speed Work

Canadian Press
Palmer, Alaska, Jan. 17.—A drastic "go to work or get out" order has been given by the Works Progress Administration authorities at Washington.

Culminating an investigation of the last several days by corporation authorities, Ross L. Sheely, colony manager, issued an ultimatum yesterday.

Sheely ordered that each of the families must have ten acres of land slashed by May 1, ready for stump-pulling operations, despite the winter weather now prevailing. The colony now has a population of approximately 100 families, made up of 388 adults and 419 children.

He also called on each family, under a threat of dispossessing them of household equipment and the like they have been obtaining from the corporation, to "clean up" around their houses within two days. He said inspectors and trucks would be sent out at the end of that time.

Canadian Press
Dingwall, Scotland, Jan. 17.—Protestor Roderick Smith of Edinburgh, an Independent Liberal, yesterday withdrew from the Ross and Cromarty by-election, leaving the Commons fight to Dominion secretary Malcolm MacDonald, the official government candidate, Hector McNeil, Labor, and Randolph Churchill, Conservative, son of Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill.

"The time is inopportune," declared Mr. Smith, after a meeting at which only forty out of 200 pro-fessed Liberals urged him to continue. Mr. Smith also referred to the "threats" of the Liberal Party caucus.

Mr. Smith's withdrawal is deemed likely to lessen Randolph Churchill's chances of success. Malcolm MacDonald, though himself National Labor, has the unanimous backing of the Liberal National organization in Ross and Cromarty, which sent Sir Ian Macpherson, now a peer, back to Westminster by a large majority in November.

Randolph Churchill, backed by the majority of local Conservatives against the expressed wishes of Prime Minister Baldwin, has already begun a spirited campaign.

IRISH SENATE SIDESTEPS VOTE

Associated Press
Dublin, Irish Free State, Jan. 17.—The senate yesterday evening evaded a second and final vote on the bill to abolish itself.

It appeared, indeed, a surprise motion by which consideration of the bill was postponed until representatives of the Dail Eireann and senate confer for the purpose of devising a new second chamber.

HOOVER URGES FARM POLICY

"System of Scarcity" Hostile to United States Spirit,
Says Ex-President

Associated Press
Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 17.—Former U.S. President, Herbert Hoover declared yesterday evening that a "new road must be built by which agriculture can get back to solid ground from the quicksands of the New Deal."

Assailing the Roosevelt administration's farm relief measures as an application of a "system of scarcity" hostile to the free American spirit, the Republican leader in his first address since the Supreme Court scuttled the Agriculture Adjustment Act, said:

"Right at the outset let us get something perfectly clear. There is a farm problem."

"It concerns the entire nation—the happiness of 7,000,000 homes. Our country will not have reached either moral or economic stature until confidence and hope shine in these homes."

"The problem is still unsolved." In a crowded auditorium at the University of Nebraska Coliseum, with 8,000 seating capacity, the former President assured his listeners and his radio audience there were "aids to recovery extended to farmers both at home and abroad which have been successful."

Grouping what he termed these tested measures, he listed them as: First, an increase in consumption of food by restoration of employment. Second, retirement of submarginal lands where people can not make a living and the retardation of new reclamation projects until additional land can be used.

Third, the encouragement of co-operative marketing and marketing agreements which contribute to present glut in the flow of commodities.

"The farm credit machinery established by the Republican administration and improved by the New Deal should be still further improved," he said in this connection.

"But beyond these measures," the former chief executive continued, "this farm situation is now one where still further emergency measures pending general economic recovery are necessary. . . . We shall need to open our minds to further experiment."

SUBSTITUTE CROPS
He suggested that instead of trying to find a balance in agriculture only by curtailing a crop, some substitute should be seeded which would find a ready market, improve the fertility of the soil, and cut down the quantities of agricultural products the nation now has to import.

"If we include this suggestion with the policies I have already mentioned which would recover our lost acres from foreigners," he continued, "we would be able to employ more than all the acres put out of action by the New Deal. We would reverse this economy of scarcity to an economy of plenty."

"I believe we should be prepared to subsidize directly such special crops under agriculture as have again been brought into balance."

OFF THE AIR
The last seventy-five words of Mr. Hoover's speech went no farther than the walls of the University Coliseum. He was allowed two minutes more than his allotted 25, but he was cut off the air before his address was finished. The Columbia Broadcasting System's programme schedules prevented further extension of the time.

CITIES OF B.C.
NAME HEADS
Canadian Press
Vancouver, Jan. 17.—Mayors of two British Columbia cities were returned to office in civic elections yesterday while two men new to mayoral responsibility and one former mayor were also elected. Mayors of twenty other cities in the province were given acclamations last Monday.

William Arrowsmith was re-elected Mayor of Roseland over John E. Gordon with a majority of seventy-nine, while in Kaslo Mayor W. V. Papworth was returned over F. E. Archer and W. J. Murphy, his plurality over Mr. Archer being only seven votes.

In Trail, Bruno Lerose, former mayor, picked up 708 votes to defeat Mayor E. L. Groutage by a 250 majority.

NEW WESTMINSTER
New Westminster, Jan. 17.—The civic elections here resulted as follows:

Aldermen (three vacancies): P. H. Jackson, 1,541, elected; H. J. Sullivan, 1,285, elected; R. Fenton, 1,192, elected; John Peck, 1,179; Don McGrath, 919; Wm. Matthew, 880; Alex. Garrett, 788; Mrs. Nellie Keville, 702.

Parks board: Dan McKenzie, 1,172; Herbert Ryall, 1,242; Harold L. Hutson, 1,338, all elected; Alfred Leplow, 666.

Police commissioner: Richard Marshall, 1,754, elected; Reg. Watson, 1,639.

BODY FOUND IN SUNKEN AUTO

Philip Whitehead, Vancouver Broker, Drowned in Burrard Inlet

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Jan. 17.—The body of Philip Whitehead, forty, prominent Vancouver broker, who had been missing since last Tuesday, was recovered yesterday evening when his automobile was raised from the water off the end of the North Vancouver ferry wharf here.

He was last seen Tuesday evening when he started for his home in West Vancouver after completing some business here.

When he failed to show up at home, friends began tracing his movements. He was last seen downtown headed for the North Vancouver ferry, which he used to get to his home in West Vancouver.

After something had been found off the end of the ferry wharf by prodding in the water with a pile pole, a diver was called and located the car in eighteen feet of water.

With the use of a derrick the car was raised and the body identified and removed to the morgue.

Mr. Whitehead had been connected with the Granville Stock and Bond Company here for several years and was a former vice-president of the British Columbia Bond Corporation. He served overseas with the Seventh Canadian Battalion.

Surviving him are the widow and three children, all at home.

Skeleton Found When House Burns

Associated Press
London, Jan. 17.—Wines, fruit and food heaped by the bedside of a woman's skeleton, dead at least two years, were found when fire broke out in the home of two aged sisters at Altrincham, Cheshire.

Firemen discovered the mummified remains of the elder sister, Elizabeth Sellsbury, wrapped snugly in a bed-chair. Remnants of a dinner, including two plates and two cups and saucers, showed that the other sister, Maria, had "dined" with the skeleton.

Citizen Labor In China Conscripted

Canadian Press
Nanking, China, Jan. 17.—The new law conscripting citizen labor for state service is being enforced for the first time in this part of the Yangtze valley. The law requires ten days' unpaid labor every year from every able-bodied adult male, and, to the surprise of the masses, the rich as well as poor, officials as well as peasants, are being forced to do organized labor.

In the city of Wuhu more than 2,000 persons are engaged in demolishing the old city hall and in repaving roads throughout the countryside. In the beautiful city of Hangchow more than 1,000 government officials and military and police officers spent one Sunday at dike building to reclaim flooded lands.

CRIME AND CRIMINALS

MAYOR McGEER OF VANCOUVER

attributes the increase of violent crime in Canada to an influx of criminals driven from the United States by the campaign instituted by the Attorney-General at Washington. He urges the co-operation of federal, provincial and municipal law enforcement agencies for a similar crusade in Canada, and blames the Ottawa and provincial authorities for such occurrences as the robbery and murder at Hull, Quebec, a few months ago, and the bank robbery and murder in Vancouver on Tuesday.

What proportion of the violent crime in Canada is due to the campaign against criminals in the United States is open to question. Those charged with the robbery and murder at Hull are Quebec people. The three men held in Vancouver for the robbery and murder on Tuesday are local residents. In fact, it is doubtful if the anti-crime crusade in the United States has become so terrifying as to force an invasion of Canada from the republic's underworld. It is questionable, indeed, if any such campaign will be successful until there has been a complete reconstitution of the whole system of law enforcement and justice administration in the United States; until the countless legal loopholes through which criminals can escape punishment are plugged; until there is one criminal code for the whole country instead of forty-eight codes; until there is one simplified judicial system instead of an independent system in each of the forty-eight states, and until the practice of electing judges has been replaced by that of appointment. By long odds the United States is still the healthiest place for the denizens of the American underworld.

Nor can the Canadian federal and provincial authorities fairly be held responsible for increase of crime in Canada. This was not Mayor McGeer's attitude when he ran against L. D. Taylor for the mayoralty of Vancouver. He said then that lawlessness in that city was due to the ineptitude—and worse—of civic administration. On his election he demanded the dismissal of two police commissioners, reorganized the police force from top to bottom, dismissing the chief and a number of officers; and constables, and developed his own organization on the lines he publicly advocated. There were no restrictions upon him, and he was given every opportunity within the financial resources of the community to carry out his promise to make Vancouver a better place in which to live as far as law enforcement was concerned. He also has had the co-operation of the provincial police. His sincerity and zeal can not be challenged but his problem has been a very formidable one. Incidentally the Vancouver police department deserves special commendation for its fine work in connection with the robbery on Tuesday.

It seems to be forgotten in some quarters that we are living in times of unexampled stress, which have produced abnormal standards of morality; that under the pressure of circumstances there has been a very definite subsidence of a part of the population from the attitude of respect for law and its institutions for which they stood in normal times. It is still true that the devil finds work for idle hands to do, and when there are many idle hands there is bound to be a greater measure of human desperation ready to challenge the law than there is when economic conditions are more favorable.

There is another contributory factor to which this newspaper drew the attention of its readers some months ago. This is the growing number of loopholes through which persons charged with serious crimes are able to slip through without adequate punishment. For example, a considerable part of the time of our Appeal Court is taken up with applications for reduction of penalties inflicted by the lower courts. This, in the eyes of criminals, widens the avenues of opportunity for them to escape fitting punishment, and the prospect encourages some of them to take chances they otherwise could not risk.

There also is a tendency to leniency in the infliction of punishment for grave offences which is not in accord with the strict principle of rigorous law enforcement and administration of justice believed to prevail in British countries. The prospect of two or three years in the penitentiary holds no terror for persons who contemplate robbery under arms. If they were certain that they would suffer long terms of imprisonment heavily punctuated by the lash, or prompt execution if they unlawfully took human life, their impulses towards crime would be kept within bounds.

Vancouver always will be a difficult city to police. It is so near the international boundary and presents so many avenues of escape, that it needs a much greater measure of police protection than it would require if it were differently situated. No police force, however efficient, can completely free it from crime or a criminal element, especially in times of economic stress and corresponding abnormal social conditions and conditions, but, nevertheless, it is imperative that whatever handicaps in strength of personnel and equipment which may exist in Vancouver should be removed, with the aid of the province if necessary. And, at all costs, the processes of the courts when criminals are apprehended should be swift and the punishment drastic. There should be little scope for the influence of sob stories in Canadian courts or for that slushy emotionalism which allows so many public enemies in the United States to jeer at decent society.

THROUGH THE ROCKIES

FOR MANY YEARS THERE HAS BEEN a spirited agitation for the completion of the North Thompson Highway which would give easy access from the Coast, through Kamloops, to the province of Alberta. Public bodies in Edmonton, Jasper, and Blue River have joined with Kamloops in pressing for the completion of this southern route. According to The Kamloops Sentinel, Alberta, logically enough, not only wants access to the Pacific Coast, but is seeking as many scenic routes and development of as many tourist resorts as possible. One scenic highway on which progress is being made is the Banff-Jasper park road—an enterprise of the federal parks board. A large section of the parkway, we are told, is being constructed on the main highway westward from Edmonton through Jasper Park and the Yellowhead Pass and across Mount Robson Park. There it would connect with the British Columbia highway and turning southward would, if the most logical route were followed, closely parallel the C.N.R. southward through Blue River and the North Thompson valley, to connect with the existing highway at Kamloops.

The Sentinel then tells us that "apparently some would favor the building of this road down the Canoe River to the Big Bend; however, according to reliable information, this road would be very much more expensive to construct and would avoid existing settlements and would, in addition, not only in itself be more difficult to maintain and keep open, but would lead to a highway that almost inevitably would be blocked for a number of months each year."

An argument in support of the construction of a road down Canoe River is that it would give access to hot springs. Citizens of the North Thompson valley say that a much more practicable plan would be to approach these springs by a short branch road from a point at or near Blue River. As is well known, from Kamloops northward along the North Thompson is a beautiful open valley which has considerable development, and which has been patiently awaiting the time when it would have an outlet to the east through the Yellowhead Pass—accepted by all as the pass through the Rockies affording the best grades at the lowest altitudes, and a route along which the railway encounters little difficulty with snow or slides.

Vancouver Island naturally is interested in any movement which will make it easier for motorists from the east of the Rockies to reach the Pacific Coast. The more effectively Nature's obstacles are overcome in this respect the better we in this part of the Dominion will like it.

THE END OF SAKLATVALA

THE DEATH IN LONDON YESTERDAY of Mr. Shapurji Saklatvala, former Communist member of the British House of Commons for North Battersea, in 1922-1923 and 1924-1929, removed a remarkable figure from British public and semi-public life.

Saklatvala made no concealment of his Communist beliefs. The Independent Labor Party, of which Philip Snowden was the mainstay in the early years of the present century, was too tame for him and he resigned from that body when it declined to affiliate with the Third Internationale.

Bombay was the birthplace of Saklatvala who was the son of a prosperous Parsi merchant. He was educated at St. Xavier's School and St. Xavier's College in Bombay. He left his birthplace for England thirty years ago, studied law, and became a member of Lincoln's Inn.

Saklatvala spent three years in the Indian jungle on exploration work for iron, coal and limestone, which subsequently ended in the establishment of the firm of Tata Iron and Steel Works in India, while he afterwards became manager of the firm's London branch. He did a great deal of work in connection with plague hospitals and slums in Bombay, and after he took up permanent residence in England, he maintained his close association with socialist movements in his native land.

The former member for North Battersea was a popular lecturer and there are few parts of Britain which on various occasions have not heard him discuss his pet Communist themes. When he spoke in the House of Commons he always could command an attentive hearing. He was the lone Communist in the House out of 615 members.

FARMERS' FRIENDLY BUGS

THERE PROBABLY IS NOT ONE WESTERN farmer out of a thousand who has ever heard of the tiny bug called Maliphambra Locustae. But this wee creature may eventually save western farmers millions of dollars by protecting them from those disastrous periodic invasions of grasshoppers.

Zoologists at the University of Iowa have found that this infinitesimal organism is a deadly parasite on grasshoppers. By developing proper numbers of the parasites and turning them loose, they believe that the destructiveness of the grasshopper—a plague on farmers since the Biblical days of ancient Egypt—can at last be put under a permanent curb.

Incidentally, this bit of news is a striking example of the dollars-and-cents value of the research done in the scientific laboratories of our great universities.

These Iowa "bug-ologists" are in a fair way to leave the entire west permanently indebted to them.

At the age of thirty-eight John Gilbert, one of the matinee idols of the screen, died in Hollywood the other day from a heart attack. He had been married four times, but those who were with him during his last moments were his doctor, a nurse, and the two firemen who went with an inhalator in response to a telephone summons.

The King of the Belgians is reported to be engaged on the preparation of a proposal for the settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict. Whatever proposal would emanate from that quarter would originate in Italy whose sovereign is connected with the Belgian monarch by close family ties.

What Other Papers Say

THAT CERTAIN FEELING—
The Buffalo Evening News

Americanism: (1) earning $60; spending it all; feeling poor. (2) Earning $1,000; spending it all; feeling rich.

ENCOURAGING FIGURES
The Toronto Globe

Having regard for the conditions and competition, an operating profit of $164,000 at the present time should be evidence enough that the West Indies Steamship Line is worth promoting and developing in every way possible. It has a very definite place in the expansion of empire trade, and progress in that direction alone must inevitably reflect increases in the earnings of the Canadian National Railway. The co-ordination of transport facilities on export and import traffic was a logical development of modern-day business. That much the government-owned systems have been able to prove, and will continue to prove in greater measure.

Loose Ends

Some solutions of a great problem are suggested—a prophet is not appreciated—A knight is consulted—And the skyline grows.
By BRUCE HUTCHISON

SPINSTER

A GENTLEMAN writes to this newspaper to suggest a series of possible solutions for the Little White Bear Problem. After thinking the problem over with evident care, he proposes that Ursus Kermodei, of Beacon Hill Park, be released and pursued by sportsmen in the park, or used for vivisection or painlessly executed. Incidentally, he thanks me for my long crusade along the same lines, my splendid fight for a Lost Cause.

These various proposals are interesting and sound, but rather inadequate. I still contend that my original proposal was the best, namely, that the City Council should be put on exhibition in the cage at Beacon Hill and Ursus established in office at the City Hall. The arrangement, one feels certain, would be advantageous in both places.

The only reason why the City Council continues this obscene spectacle and refuses to remove Ursus is that it doesn't want to do anything which I have advocated, usually a sound policy in all public affairs. It doesn't want to seem to be under my thumb. That is why, though her only friend, I have proved to be Ursus's chief enemy.

(People who write to the editor, by the way, should study the subject more carefully, and at least get the creature's sex right. She is a she, not a he. There never has been a he in Ursus's life. She is an aged spinster, like the civic gentlemen who tempted her.)

TICKLE

LIKE PROPHETS, orchestra leaders are not without honor save in their own country. This great thought occurred to me the other night when some wild young things dragged me down to a dance at the Empress Hotel to get a little exercise. It occurred to me with sudden inspiration, that Mr. Tickle's orchestra at the Empress Hotel is probably as good as any dance orchestra you will find anywhere. This is just my own instructed notion, for I do not claim to be an authority on dance orchestras; though I probably know as much about them as I do about most things which occupy this column from time to time.

Anyway, I heard a number of swell dance orchestras in the great central garden of jam not long ago and it seems to me that Mr. Tickle's system of making music was superior to Mr. Whitteman's for dancing purposes, and far better than the two orchestras which alternate on the stage of America's largest night club. Victoria takes my friend, Mr. Tickle, as a matter of course, because it doesn't realize how good he is, just as it takes us all. But the truth about Mr. Tickle had better be kept a secret lest he walk out on us.

Still, it is nice for us as a community to appreciate our civic assets. We talk a lot about the White Bear, as if it were something, but Mr. Tickle writes to the editor about Mr. Tickle, who really does.

(In return for all this, Mr. Tickle is going to play "The Music Goes Round and Round" all evening the next time the young drag me down to his establishment.)

SEAGULL

THOUGHTS while perched on the rail of the Vancouver boat: "Those long thin legs and knobby knees of yours must get cold in this weather. They remind me of the summer when the girls put on their bathing suits. This age is developing a race with seagull legs. It must have something to do with diet. And that wise old eye of yours, cold as the sea, hard and brittle as a diamond, calculating as a hungry flapper at dinner-time! It reminds me of a stock salesman in the Golden Gate, or a politician stung up the electorate of Ominea. There are far more seagull eyes than seagulls about in the world to-day.

"What are you thinking behind that ruthless stare? Probably that the creatures which walk about the deck of this ship are a helpless, clumsy lot, incapable of flight, earth-bound, awkward, and—my friend, but you are an amusing spectacle, too, who when you stop flying and perch on this railing. You look worse than the girls in bathing suits."

"How pitiful, indeed, is any creature outside his natural element! Most of us are like you, as you roost there, awkward and unsteady. Most of our politicians are as clumsy and out of place in politics as you sway unsteadily on the railing, but they would float through life with ease as plumbers or sausage makers. Most of them get along well enough in business, as you fly, but put them into public life and they roost on the railings, like you, with a baleful eye, until someone pushes them off. Following the ship, diving for garbage, in the water yonder, plunging down with a swift and matchless grace to grab a crust, you are competent enough. So are most humans. They follow the ship doggedly enough, taking what is thrown overboard, screaming at their neighbors, fighting over the crusts, but fill their bellies, and are filled, perch them on a height as you are perched, and they look on life with a savage eye, clinging to the perch, strutting with an outthrust front, as you do, and then diving for the crusts again, ever hungry and insatiable. If we could only fly, we would make much of seagulls. If seagulls could only talk, they would undoubtedly talk politics and high finance with wisdom born of long experience."

SKYLINE

THOUGHTS while watching the night skyline of Vancouver from an approaching steamer! It's beginning to look like the southern end of Manhattan Island already, like a city, a great mistake. It must have been such a nice forest glade beside the water not long ago. A middle-aged Victorian was telling me the other day that he came here on an excursion when he was a little boy and all the Victoria excursionists walked up to surge along the North Shore. Here is youth. Here is vitality. Here is power and success. There were two major bank holdups in the last two days and one bank clerk was shot dead.

The buildings are getting taller—the peaked roof of the Marine Building, the overhanging square bulk of the C.N.R. Hotel, which is still empty like a gigantic monument to the Bull Market of 1929. The town is growing. It is spreading, rushing out in all directions, will shortly rush across the First Narrows on a bridge to surge along the North Shore. Here is youth. Here is vitality. Here is power and success. There were two major bank holdups in the last two days and one bank clerk was shot dead.

Vancouver people are getting a metropolitan attitude toward life nowadays—civilized, broad-minded, not narrow and parochial like us. The City Council says there are about a hundred bootleggers flourishing in that sea of bricks and mortar yonder. They are an energetic race, these Vancouverites, have about them the freshness and vitality of young men, never doubting clouds will break, or that they are building one of the great cities of the world. Brick by brick, stone by stone, girder by girder they are building it up, ever up, until the lights flash from high across the night sky.

That is the way I am building my new rock garden, up, up, stone by stone. It will last longer than Vancouver. It will remain a curious mound of stones, long after the bricks and girders have fallen yonder and the forest grows once more down to the edge of the water. On the whole, I prefer my rock garden to Vancouver, but it is only a matter of taste, after all. The ants scurrying about the great ant hill yonder probably prefer Vancouver. This is a profound thought. But it won't look very important in print. Wish I were back in Victoria. Victoria becomes an incurable disease after a while. Incurable but painless....

THE WORLD'S LARGEST SELLING EFFERVESCENT SALINE

TRAIN KILLS FOUR

Racine, Wis., Jan. 17 (Associated Press).—Four persons were killed and a fifth seriously injured yesterday evening when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by the "400" mile-a-minute train of the Chicago and Northwestern Road, at a crossing here. William Schobers, gatekeeper, said the car skidded on the slippery pavement, plunged through the crossing gate and stalled on the right-of-way as the speeding train bore down.

Teacher Knew About Dance

She Explains to Small Pupil Why Valentine's Day Is So Unusual This Year

Small boy—"Please, teacher, why are people saying Valentine's Day this year is going to be better than ever? I want to know."

Teacher—"Because the Press Club will hold a ball that day, of course. You're too young to go, but I know your mother and father will be there."

Teacher, as usual, was right. She gave the exact reason why Valentine's Day is going to be bigger and better this year than ever before. The ball she told her small pupil about will be held at the Empress Hotel the night of February 14.

Members of the committee of the Victoria branch of the British Columbia Institute of Journalists are working out plans to make the Press Club ball an outstanding success. As you may have heard before a special "Brian Trust," has been appointed. True, this trust, was stumped entirely when it came to the decision regarding the award of the diamond ring.

The "Trust" sat around for hours and tried to decide the best way it could be done. They literally bit their fingernails and tore their hair.

but to no avail. Not yet has it been decided how the ring will be given away.

The Press Gang, of course, continues to hold the spotlight for the Press Ball. Material is now being gathered and what the local papers refuse to print—or even what would make Walter Winchell blush to say over the air—will be found in the columns of The Victoria Press Gang, 1936 edition.

Improvements To Parks Made

Improvement work on some of Victoria's parks was inspected by a partial tour this week, and other playing fields will be visited in the near future as the group determines its budget requirements for 1936.

Alderman James Adam is chairman of the committee, which includes Aldermen Andrew McGavin, Stanley Okell and J. D. Hunter. W. H. Warren, city parks superintendent, accompanied the party on its recent tour.

Included in work already undertaken is the construction of a ticket gate at Macdonald Park with a ticket-selling booth, construction of the Beacon Hill rose garden, started last year, and removal of the fence around the garden, situated in the old deer enclosure. The bird houses will be removed to a point closer to the water.

In the near future Central Park softball diamond will be leveled, and the smaller football field there improved. Drainage projects at Beacon Hill to improve the cricket pitch are also considered.

Montreal, Jan. 17 (Canadian Press).—Charles A. Roy, former general manager of the Banque Provinciale du Canada, to-day became president. He is succeeded by J. Ubald Boyer, former manager of the head office in Montreal.

FINANCING YOUR ILLNESS

To the Editor:—Mr. Fletcher writes interestingly regarding health insurance and would appear ripe enough in age and wisdom to appreciate necessity for the creation of adequate measures to safeguard public health. To such men as Mr. Fletcher and others who are commendably exhibiting a lively and intelligent interest in so vital a public problem, much credit is due.

In introducing such a system of public health welfare, one of the greatest burdens on humanity will be removed, viz., financing the family health bill. And, too, will come the knowledge that competent medical, surgical, hospital and nursing attention will be available to all contributors at all times, not only to yourself but the whole family.

It will be possible to receive attention without the customary hesitation due to heavy medical costs. One shudders to contemplate the result in years to come of such forced procrastination.

Thousands of honest, hard-working parents are distressed and distracted because of their sheer inability financially to provide proper medical attention for those they love.

It is criminal to allow such conditions to prevail when a remedy is so easily available.

The more apathetic and imprudent we exclaim, "Well, it's just another 2 per cent."

For an employee earning $60, the government would exact a toll of $1.00 per month. For this amount the employee would become entitled to a practically complete medical service for the whole family—including hospital and operation expenses—reduced cost of drugs, etc., with the probability of limited dental attention thrown in. And let it be understood, there is no charity about the scheme.

The $60 earned is probably all expended during the month, what purchase made by the earner can compare in real value with the monthly investment of $1.00 which he would contribute for family health insurance?

Adverse critics have appeared with thinly-veiled motives—some piousness—others with obvious intentions of thwarting the successful progress of what should be a politically-free measure having for its objective the availability of much-valued medical and surgical care at a cost commensurate with the public earning power.

The most insouciant politician must surely agree that such a measure is desirable, and immediately for the people.

It is within grasp, and I sincerely hope those who might oppose this bill will realize the wickedness of purposely withholding from the sick and ailing such care and attention which they are now unable to purchase. I would dislike intensely to participate in the responsibility of opposing such a much-needed and admirable legislative effort.

The present administration and its opposition might well be proud of achieving a unanimous verdict in favor of health insurance for the people.

TOURISTS

To the Editor:—Surely Mr. Griffiths in his letter in Friday's issue made a gigantic mistake when he stated the tourists left 200 millions of dollars in Canada each year. The two O's in his imagination.

In fact two millions is an over estimate unless the visitor to eastern Canada is a better spender and longer stay in those who visit here. I have had a lot to do with tourists within the last ten years and I find the average American who comes here with wife, say two children, spend around $100 to $150 a month for the family—all inclusive.

How our bureau figures on an outlay of $5 a day and some figure on even up to $8 has always puzzled me. It is absolutely ridiculous, and very misleading, especially when the taxpayers know differently and knowing what they do even objects to our council spending $25,000 on our publicity. Los Angeles alone (not including Prisco or other places in California) figures on 8,000 eastern Canadians spending the winter there, so with Victoria, Vancouver and British Columbia people going south, I presume Canada spends quite as much down south as the Americans spend in Canada. Canadians who can afford to do so go south for the winter. Californians have no reason to come north to miss their climate, so their stay with us is very short, generally about three days. I had one party at my camp who not only brought all their food (tinned) but even their coal oil for cooking and a goat in a cage for the milk supply. All their expenses were $1 a day for the camp fees.

WALTER J. DANDRIDGE,
Fell Street, Victoria, January 14.

(Ed. Note.—Mr. Griffiths's figures are based upon Dominion government reports and are probably an understatement. More than 2,000,000 tourists entered Canada last year for tourist purposes last year. British Columbia's total was less than $60,000. The Victoria City Council now votes $20,000 for publicity.)

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

The Cathedral of the Saint King (or Sveti Kralj) in Sofia was filled with military and political leaders of Bulgaria on April 17, 1925, as they surrounded the catafalque of General Georgiev, slain by the hand of a Communist. Suddenly a thundering crash came, the roof and walls of the great church caved in and more than 100 of the distinguished mourners were buried in the debris.

This catastrophe was the culmination of what was believed to have been a Communist plot against the government. King Boris had been attacked a few days earlier when an official and a servant were slain, then came General Georgiev's murder and now the mass bombing at the funeral.

A year after this outrage, Bulgaria issued the stamp shown here, picturing the ruined cathedral. The edifice is called the Church of the Saint King, because in it are the remains of the Serbian king, Stefan Urosh II, who fought for the freedom of the Balkan states.

(From The Times Files)
Acting under instructions from William G. Campbell, a duly qualified voter of this city of Victoria, Frank Higgins and George Morphy, solicitors, this morning filed a petition in the Supreme Court praying that the court determine on evidence to be produced that Mayor Morley was not duly elected and that his election was void.

If changes proposed by Mayor Morley at last evening's meeting of the City Council be adopted, alterations will be made in the manner in which that body deals with the public affairs of the city. His Worship favors council meetings held but once a month, the creation of a board of works which shall be composed of the heads of the various standing committees and all work to be carried through under the direction of an administrative committee of control.

Kiel, Germany, Jan. 17.—The German submarine U-3 went to the bottom of the sea during a practice manoeuvre to-day. Divers from her parent ship, one of the large battleships of the North Sea fleet, immediately began endeavoring to loop chains about the sunken boat. The full crew was aboard when the submarine went down.

The recent severe gales which have swept the coast have, in the minds of some of the students of the case, demonstrated that the present plans for the Dallas Road foreshore will prove entirely inadequate. The high winds in the past few days have done great damage there and also at Ross Bay.

Departments Ask Wage Restoration

When the City Council starts its budget discussion this year, it will face applications from virtually all branches of the civil employ, including fire and police departments, for restoration of salary reductions to their former levels.

Last year a partial restoration was made, but different branches of the city are now seeking complete return of their cuts.

MINING --

The only high-grade bituminous coal fields on the whole Pacific Coast are situated on Vancouver Island—in the coal belt that runs from Ladysmith to Comox. Coal-mining is the oldest industry—apart from agriculture—on the island. Some of the first settlers here were families of coal miners brought from the Old Country.

The progress of this industry has been reflected by the growing prosperity of the island, and its continuance augurs well for the future.

Playing its part also in the development of our island communities, the Vancouver Island Coach Lines offers convenient and economical bus transportation to every where on the island.

TOURIST VIEWS OF VICTORIA

Following are extracts from questionnaires sent to tourists by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau:

"Roads too narrow."

"We came for the excellent drives and boat trips."

"We wanted to see the oddities of Victoria."

"We came for a little golf, relaxation and, perhaps, a bit of shopping."

"We stayed three days and spent $241."

"Make it as easy as possible for American yachts to obtain cruising permits."

"Your Victoria weather is always perfect."

"My son enjoyed the Crystal Garden."

"Your highways are the worst roads I have ever driven on; too narrow, too much crown, too bumpy, and need re-surfacing."

"Swimming and hiking brought us to Victoria."

"Butchart's Garden is the beauty spot of the world."

"We enjoyed the greeting at the boat."

"Why keep people away with bad roads."

"Please keep the English atmosphere in your buildings and customs and don't copy us."

"We came for the Crystal Pool."

"We noted with pleasure the quiet observance of the Sabbath."

"We were grateful for an opportunity to relax."

"We were much interested in the Showboat programmes and the pipers at the dock."

"We think the golf links are far too expensive."

"We object to the tendency of your people to use the middle of the road."

"Between Nanaimo and Victoria we were forced off the road by drivers."

"The courtesy of your people is wonderful."

"Your people are hospitable, but your roads are terrible. Planned to drive all over the island but only got fifty miles out and came back and stayed in Victoria, and even refused to go to Butchart's Gardens."

Cheminus

Cheminus, Jan. 17.—An enjoyable evening was spent in the Anglican Parish Hall Monday evening.

The senior Anglican Young People's Union entertained the junior A.Y.P.U.

The evening was spent playing games. Jack Atwood gave piano selections.

The Baptist Young People's Union met in the Baptist Church for their weekly meeting on Monday.

Rev. Evan Danks opened the meeting. Hymns and choruses were sung. Bible contests were held and an address given by Rev. Mr. Danks on the life of St. John.

Rev. Eric Robathan started confirmation classes on Tuesday evening. The candidates were Ruth Johnson, Harriet Brown, Lionel Williams, Alexander Thicks and Ernest Hastings.

Harold Howe, Great Central Lake, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Howe.

Miss Edith Fraser has returned from a visit to Victoria.

Douglas Gillingham, Great Central Lake, was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith.

A banquet and dance was given in St. John's Parish Hall last Saturday evening to the delegates to the Midland Council of the Anglican Young People's Association. Speakers were Rev. Eric Robathan, chaplain; Rev. Basil Spurling, Miss Green, Emerita, Miss Mabel Thorneycroft, Frank Bain and Edward Lowe. On Sunday corporate communion was held at 8 o'clock and two meetings held, one at 10.15 a.m. and again at 2 p.m.

A whist drive and old-time dance was held in Cheminus Hall under the patronage of Cheminus Women's Benefit Association on Tuesday evening. Prize winners were as follows: Ladies, first, Mr. Hardy, substitute; consolation, Miss Mabel Cook; gentlemen, first, David Cook; consolation, Charles Baker. Travelling prizes were won by Mrs. Erickson and David Cook. Mrs. Murray and Mr. Cochrane supplied the music for dancing.

PREVENTION IN MENTAL CASES
Dr. A. L. Crease of Essdonale Says Earlier Treatment Started the Better

The importance of preventive work in the treatment of the mentally deficient was stressed by Dr. Arthur L. Crease, medical superintendent of the Essdonale Mental Hospital, when addressing the annual meeting of the Victoria Central Exchange yesterday. By such work many of the mental cases could be sidetracked, he said, adding that prevention was better than cure.

Definite laws governed the working of the mechanism of the mind, Dr. Crease said. The mind went through such steps as motivation, recognition of a problem, attack, success or failure and repetition in anything learned or done.

"We get our motivation from our instincts," Dr. Crease said. He said instincts were those of flight, curiosity, repulsion, self-assertion, self-abasement, gregariousness, acquisition and construction.

Dr. Crease said he thought the sex problem in mental cases had been greatly over-emphasized.

DEFINITE LAWS
The laws by which the mind worked were very definite, Dr. Crease said. The first law was projection, and from that law came fantasies and false beliefs. If these were temporary they could be regarded as symbols, but if they became permanent they were regarded as character traits.

Dr. Crease told of the Jehovah complex, when people imagined they were God. Such cases were very troublesome, and complex, he said. He spoke of people with the intent to kill and told of patients who had told him their desires in quite natural and normal voices. He spoke of the royal birth complex as being a very definite fantasy, and said patients imagining they are of such birth, often refuse to recognize near relatives.

There were also fantasies of contamination, which he classified as most troublesome, cruelty, the magic wand and rebirth, the last named having a very marked effect on certain people.

"The earlier treatment is started on mental cases, the better will be the results," Dr. Crease said. "There is a very definite spirit abroad now of preventive work for such people."

He had Chronic DIGESTIVE TROUBLE
"I am a railroad man. Irregular and hurried meals resulted in chronic indigestion, sleepless nights and terrible heartburn. Then I tried MACLEAN BRAND STOMACH POWDER. It brought me almost instant relief. I can now eat anything. The haunting terror of sleepless nights is past."
—Mr. E.G.H.

Stress Need Of Duncan School

Duncan, Jan. 17.—The study group of the Duncan Parent-Teacher Association held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. W. R. Smythe on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. J. P. Baines, president, Mrs. A. Leeming gave a talk on the need of a new high school and the by-law which is being voted on by the taxpayers. A pamphlet was also read on "Facts of Importance to Parents."

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. B. Burrows. The annual general meeting of the Cowichan Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. F. O. Christmas Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Christmas in the chair. In response to a communication received from the Solarium the Institute decided to look after Amie Sasaki, a Japanese child.

Mrs. Stannard, secretary, read a report of the year's activities. The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $85.

Mrs. T. C. Robson, president of the island board, was present and took the chair for the election of officers. The election resulted as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. F. B. Lestler; Christmas president, Mrs. F. O. Christmas; president, Mrs. G. C. Colk; vice-president, Mrs. Bradley; secretary, Mrs. A. Rey; treasurer, Mrs. E. Manner; extra director, Mrs. W. E. Lamming.

Mrs. Lorna Evans and Mrs. Arthur Stannard were appointed a committee of "ways and means." It was decided to change the meeting day to the second Monday in each month.

Mrs. Robson gave a short address, and stated that the Somes members had decided to form a separate branch.

Mrs. Christmas was presented with a bouquet of chrysanthemums, and a corsage bouquet of Christmas roses.

Jeweler Has Coin Variety

Joseph Rose Brings Ninety-one Coins of Many Types Into The Times Newsroom; Distributes Half-dimes

"Coins? Here, have a look over a few of those," said Joseph Rose, local jeweler, when he strolled into The Times newsroom the other day.

"The few" that Mr. Rose referred to consisted of ninety-one coins, of a wide variety. "And half dimes," said Mr. Rose. "Here, boys, take some."

With this he threw down a box containing nine of them and invited members of the staff to take one. "I am a coin collector by compulsion rather than by choice," Mr. Rose said, explaining how people often came to his store to sell or trade old coins.

Included in Mr. Rose's collection were: Nine half dimes ranging from 1853 to 1888; a Hawaiian dollar and half dollar, dated 1888, with the head of Kalakaua I on them; a Peruvian coin dated 1890; a Napoleon III fifty-cent piece, dated 1867, and numerous Chinese coins. There were also one or two Arabian pieces.

Another fairly large collection of coins is owned by Mrs. Victor Gillespie, 129 Clarence Street. They include a Lincoln penny of 1870; half dimes from 1844 up, 1912 Liberty nickels with the head of S. 23.50 American gold pieces, a bronze penny, a flying eagle copper penny of 1856, two Columbian half dollars of 1892 and 1893, a Napoleon III fifty centime dated 1867, an American half dollar dated 1890, an American gold dollar of 1853, and an unusual American coin, smaller than the old small nickels, whose value she does not know.

The oldest coin is a George III penny, dated 1790. Herbert Lawrence, 1905 Blanshard Street, has a halfpenny dated 1804 and made of bronze.

Captain Broadwood of the Woodbrook Kennels has three Cornish pennies, dated 1811 and 1812, similar to the one owned by Detective J. H. Rogers. Two have the inscription, "For the Accommodation of the County," and the third is a token, "Payable at Scortier House."

Mrs. Frank Crofton of Ganges Harbor has a George III penny, dated 1800. It is rather an odd one, smaller than most of those turned in, being about the size of the Canadian dime. Mrs. Lorne Rodgers of Langford has a bronze Napoleon III penny, minted in 1855.

Sixty Years Forestry Boon

End of Huge Tree-planting Marks Anniversary This Year

The American forest—only a shaded memory in many far-scattered acres—is coming back, as the government works to complete the greatest tree-planting programme in history in advance of organized forestry's sixtieth anniversary this year.

Nearly six decades ago—in 1876—Congress appropriated $2,000 for an investigation of timber conditions in the United States. Franklin B. Hough was employed to make the inquiry. It was the first official government step toward controlling the devastation of timber and it was followed ten years later by the creation of the division of forestry in the Department of Agriculture. In 1891, President Harrison was authorized to establish forest reserves.

Now government estimates are that at least 482,000,000 trees will have been planted for 1935 by federal agencies before the end of the year, in addition to the scattered millions that will go into the ground at private expense, reports The Associated Press.

Of that 482,000,000 the Soil Conservation Service has planned to set out, principally on private land, 260,000,000, and the Forest Service predicts its plantings, on 244,000 acres within the national forests, will exceed 222,000,000 trees, or three times last year's total.

These huge programmes are using labor of the Civilian Conservation Corps and likewise many workmen enrolled on relief lists. Soil conservation plantings are being concentrated in demonstration areas in the most hard-hit of the erosion belts, particularly in droughty, wind-blown sections.

The forest service is centering its major operations in cut-over lands east of the Great Plains acquired by the government—in the North Central States—while the area of next importance in the programme is the south. All other sections are figuring to lesser extent.

Meanwhile, a non-governmental forestry agency, the American Tree Association, is issuing a special edition of its Forestry Primer to commemorate Franklin B. Hough of 1876 as "first forest agent."

Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the association, says that date will "mark the beginning of our economic independence," just as it marked the "centennial of our political independence."

PUBLICATION TO HONOR
FOUNDER
Pack, who for ten years has been issuing his "primer" to schools and colleges and figuratively standing atop a sawed tree stump to cry out for conservation, attributes to Mr. Hough's $2,000 investigation of nearly sixty years ago the foundation of the present forest policy—with its 172,000,000 acres of national forests, its many experiment stations and its thousands of CCC workers.

This "depression army," out in the woods now for two years, has been engaged in fire-fighting and prevention of fires as well as in planting operations. Thousands of miles of telephone lines have been strung in forest areas to aid in quickly spreading fire alarms; hundreds of fire-breaks have been created.

New York, Jan. 17 (Associated Press).—Gold receipts at the port of New York in the week ended January 15 included $1,000,000 from Canada.

SALADA' TEA is delicious

The GOLDEN FEATHER

by Robert Bruce © 1935 INEA Service, Inc.

Over in the corner there was a little table bearing a telephone. Larry strolled over and stood frowning down at the instrument. He bent and picked up a phone book, and rifled through the pages with care, looking for scribbled numbers, notes, checkmarks—anything. The quest was useless. The book seemed as new and untouched as the day it came from the printer.

He laid it down and glanced about him. Then he saw what he was after. On the tan wallpaper, close to the door frame, three feet from the telephone stand, was something scribbled in pencil. He bent closer to look at it. Someone, apparently, had written a phone number on the wall: Midlothian 326.

Matthews came into the room and Larry called him. He came over and looked at the number, which Larry was copying into a notebook.

"That's not a Chicago exchange," said Matthews.

"No."

"No. Anyhow, all Chicago numbers would have four numerals."

Larry gave the number another scrutiny. "That's been written recently," he said. "You can tell—look—it isn't smudged or faded. Somebody wrote that down on this last visit, if I'm not greatly mistaken."

Matthews bent to take a second look and nodded agreement. He called Gunderson, and when the agent reached his side, he said:

"Look, Gundy, copy that number and then slide down to the phone company headquarters and find out where in the United States there's an exchange named Midlothian. You may have to spend half the night at the job, but find out. I know it's not a Chicago exchange, and I doubt if it's anywhere in this area. I've heard of it before, anyhow. But stick with it until you find out. Look up the phone company's traffic manager—man named Edward Ruth—he's a pretty good scout and he'll see you get the help you need."

Gunderson copied the number and departed. Peters and LaRocco came in, to report that they had finished recording all the fingerprints that could be found.

"We'll go back downtown and develop those prints and compare them with what we've already got," said Larry. "By that time we ought to be hearing from Gunderson."

"So they all went back to Matthews' office, through the late afternoon traffic rush. An hour later LaRocco handed Larry the pictures he had developed. Still moist, Larry spread them on a table and compared them with the families of the Jackson gang's prints which he carried with him.

"Well, it's no surprise, or course, but these are the birds," he said at last. "Most of these prints are pretty badly smudged, but we've enough to go on. Here's Red Jackson's, big as life, and Wingy Lewis's. That's enough."

As he was putting his facsimile cards back into his pocket the door opened and Gunderson came in.

"It's back in your ballistics, Mr. Glenn," said Gunderson. "That phone number is in a little town named Midlothian, about a hundred miles from Dover. It belongs to a farmer named Egan, who lives out on the edge of town."

CHAPTER XXXIV

Jean Dunn sat in an old-fashioned rocking chair on the porch of the little farmhouse and looked out at the fields that shimmered in the summer heat. She had been at the farmhouse just a little less than twenty-four hours, now, and every hour seemed to increase the quest

1. Take two "Aspirin" Tablets. Make sure you get "Aspirin."

2. Drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

Instead of taxing your system with strong medicines for a cold, try the way pictured above—the modern, easy way. Your own doctor will approve it. And it takes hold of even a bad cold almost immediately.

The "Aspirin" you take will start combating your cold internally at once; if throat is sore, crush and stir 3 "Aspirin" Tablets in a third

The Truth About Diet

By DR. MORRIS FISHBIN

First of the vitamins is termed Vitamin A. Follow a fairly good diet, and there is no reason why you should suffer from lack of this element. Eat food that has no vitamin A and you may become subject to the condition called night blindness.

Night blindness results from changes in the eye, which suffer from a lack of a substance called visual purple.

Vitamin A is found in large amounts in animal fats, butter, egg yolk, cod liver and halibut liver oil.

It has been noticed in green leaves, in alfalfa, cabbage, spinach and young clover.

The greener the leaves, the better they are as a source of vitamin A. Leaf lettuce and carrot tops also are excellent sources of vitamin A.

Halibut liver oil is the natural substance with the highest concentration of vitamin A. It is sixty times stronger than cod liver oil in its content of this vitamin.

Animals get their vitamin A from plants or from other animals. The cow eats grass, and the milk of the cow contains vitamin A. Milk and butter made in summer are richer in vitamin A than milk and butter made in winter. In summer the cow has a richer diet of green grass.

In Newfoundland and Labrador, where the people live largely on wheat bread, dried peas and salt meat, night blindness is exceedingly common. As the deficiency becomes greater, there develops an actual degeneration of the eye, called xerophthalmia.

The same condition has been seen in India, China, and Japan. In Russia, among the peasants, who undergo long periods of fasting, and in Brazil among negro workers restricted in their diets to beans, pork fat and cornmeal.

In the United States, investigations have shown that there is some degree of night blindness among a considerable percentage of children who do not receive adequate amounts of vitamin A in their diet.

The figures show about 25 per cent in rural areas and as much as 50 per cent in some large cities.

TO-DAY'S HEALTH QUESTION

Q.—Please advise what climate would be best suited to one who has had three nose operations for polypus, with another to follow.

A.—The question of climate for persons who have diseases of nose and throat is impossible to answer in general terms. Certain individuals do better in dry climates, and others in moist. Some feel better at high altitudes and others improve at sea level.

Your own physician, who is familiar with your condition, is in a better position to answer this question than anyone else.

Exchange Did Valuable Work

Secretary's Annual Report Tells of Many Social Agencies It Assisted

"The Exchange has become so necessary a tool in inter-agency relationships that sometimes part of the process for its intelligent and discriminating use is overlooked," said Mrs. Kenneth Barr, secretary of the Victoria Central Exchange, when making her report at the annual meeting yesterday.

"If identification follows inquiry there should be three subsequent steps for the inquiring agency if the full benefit of the Exchange is to be obtained—follow up of sources reported by the Exchange—conference with the other agencies interested in the client and action based on the facts so secured."

SAVES TIME AND MONEY

"This follow-up procedure saves time and money, but that is not all it does. The records of the other agencies can tell you about the background of the client—the personality of the members of the family, the problems and difficulties of the past and other facts necessary to know before trying to help the family make a successful social adjustment."

Mrs. Barr said the Exchange was a clearing house for social agencies, public and private, and as such maintained a card index of the names, addresses and other identifying information of individuals or families receiving service from the social agencies in the community. These cards contained no data as to the detailed needs or history of the families, merely listing the names of the families, together with the names of the agencies knowing the families and their data of contact.

AGENCIES AIDED

As families came to the attention of the various social agencies, the agencies communicated with the Exchange, giving the name, addresses, ages and other identifying information. The Exchange then searched its files and reported back, whether or not the family had been previously registered by any other agency.

The total clearances made through the Exchange for the year were 7,907. Mrs. Barr's report said, of which 5,387 were identified as being known to other agencies. New cases registered during the year were 2,071, of which 1,197, or 58 per cent, were identified as being known. Inquiries for information only, made by workers prior to investigation of a new case, were 1,180, of which 808, or 68 per cent, were identified.

The luckiest number for meal-makers

Right up in the front rank of the famous Heinz 57 varieties is Heinz Tomato Ketchup. Day after day, this alluring, satisfying sauce goes on proving there's luck in odd numbers.

But in the making of Heinz Ketchup, nothing is left to luck—its extra-quality is planned. Pedigreed tomatoes, grown for Heinz are big, red-ripe, extra-juicy and healthful. They are picked, cooked and bottled all the same day. Mellowed Heinz vinegars are used, and pure cane sugar. Spices from the Orient add zest and aroma.

Don't wait—enjoy Heinz Tomato Ketchup with your very next meal—see how it peeps up meats, fish and stews. Prices are low.

"The Heinz Book of Salads and Meat Recipes" a beautiful production, just off the press, sent for 25c, or 10c, and labels from 3 tins of Heinz soups.

Mrs. and Mrs. Maxwell, 608 St. Paul, are now resident at The Angela for the winter months.

The Misses H. E. Brown and K. Wagner of Regina are in Victoria for a short holiday. They are staying at the Dominion Hotel.

Mrs. Anthony Hinkle of Boston is spending a few days in Winnipeg as the guest of Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. H. P. Osler, en route for Victoria where she will enjoy a two month's visit.

Mrs. Laura Lewin entertained at a bridge luncheon and tea at the "Green Lantern," Fort Street, on Wednesday, her guests including Mrs. Chadwick of Regina, Mrs. H. A. Stuart and Mrs. A. Gardiner.

Mrs. C. P. Armstrong and Mrs. M. P. Driscoll are expected home at the week-end after an absence of several months, during which they enjoyed the winter sports at the Seignepoint Club, Quebec, and also visited in England.

Miss Nell Meagher and Miss Norma Kinman will be among the Victoria guests who will go up to Port Alberni to attend the wedding to-morrow of Miss Margaret Moffitt and Mr. Oskar Joseph Weibel. Miss Moffitt is a graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mrs. Cecil Armstrong, who, with Miss Dorothy and Master Glen Armstrong, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. L. J. Galvin, in Alameda, has returned to Los Angeles where Mrs. Armstrong and children are spending the winter.

This afternoon, at her suite in Tudor Manor, Fairfield Road, Mrs. J. Hall entertained a few guests at the tea hour, including Mrs. J. M. Wood, Mrs. F. C. Dillabough, Mrs. Hugo Carlson of California, Miss Ethel Bale, Mrs. Fred Manning of Sproat Lake, Miss Eileen Pandray, Mrs. E. H. M. Foot and Mrs. Francis Norton.

Mrs. Frederick Manning of Sproat Lake is spending a few days in Victoria with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Carl Pandray, Beach Drive, having come down to Victoria to bid "bon voyage" to her parents and sister, Miss Eileen Pandray who will leave to-morrow for San Francisco on a trip to South America, Bermuda, the eastern States and eastern Canada.

Mrs. Robert Shearing (nee Nancy Stockley) was the guest of honor at a kitchen shower given at the home of her aunt, Mrs. A. Miller, 462 Nelson Street, Esquimalt, on Wednesday evening. Those present were Mesdames R. Shearing, G. King, W. Stockley, W. Shearing, A. Miller, C. Parkinson, W. Rhodes, B. King, S. Craven, F. Pick, D. Lockley, M. Hayworth, E. Mutch, K. Bayles and H. Parkinson.

Among the guests registered at the Dominion Hotel are: Mr. J. W. Gillies, Mr. R. T. Haggart, Mr. A. R. Hartland, Mr. W. A. Dobson, Mr. R. R. Brade, Mr. C. H. Hope, Vancouver; Mr. W. A. E. Edwards, New Westminster.

For her programme at the Empress Hotel to-morrow afternoon Mrs. Otto Weller has chosen the following songs, in which she will be accompanied at the piano by Mr. Malcolm J. Moore: "You in a Minute" (Clarke), "The Star" (Bogers), "Night Wind" (Farley), "Early Morning" (Peel), "If Flowers Could Speak" (Zucca) and "My Message" (Guy d'Ardelet). The vocal programme will be supplemented by a number of light and classical selections by the hotel orchestra under the direction of William Tickle.

CLOTHES LACK ORIGINALITY

Style Designer Condemns U.S. Women For All "Looking Alike"

Associated Press
New York, Jan. 17.—The fashion world's most painful criticism was aimed at the women of the United States to-day in the assertion of a style designer that the clothes they wear "all look alike."

They fail to strive for originality, said Miss Ruth Hutton, who has spent twelve years in France and the United States as a fashion designer and illustrator.

"The French woman," she said, "would rather have one beautiful gown made especially for herself than to have several cheaper ones such as the American women prefer."

"The average American working girl spends her lunch hour hunting bargains, regardless of how they look or fit."

American girls, she said, get a thrill from wearing dresses copied from those worn by movie stars, and look alike because they have a horror of looking different."

THIRD BOSWELL ALSO A BRIDE

Now the Boswell Sisters are married. Connie, whose voice and charm raised her to fame as a member of the popular singing trio in spite of physical handicaps, had a surprise up her sleeve—she was married to Harry Leedy, the sisters' business manager, nearly a month ago, at Peekskill, N.Y. And here are the happy newweds whose honeymoon was interrupted when Leedy went to the hospital for an operation.

CLUBS ASSIST PEACE CAUSE

Victoria Groups Give $70 Towards Miss Dingman's Appeal

Tangible evidence of the practical interest of Victoria women in the cause of world peace is forthcoming in the announcement made by the University Women's Club that $70 has been contributed by local organizations in response to Miss Mary Dingman's recent appeal.

When Miss Dingman was in the city in November she addressed a gathering of women, held at the home of Mrs. G. M. Weir under the auspices of the University Women's Club, on the work of the Women's Peace and Disarmament committee at Geneva, of which she is a member.

She intimated that a dearth of funds was handicapping this work and suggested that, if the organized women of the larger cities of Canada would each make themselves responsible for $50, the continuance of the work would be assured.

The university women undertook to approach other women's organizations in the city with a request for a donation of $5 towards this worthwhile cause, and so splendidly did they accept the stewardship, the various groups responded generously. Of the total of $70 subscribed to date, the largest donation was that of $25 from the Women's Canadian Club, and $10 from the University Women's Club itself.

Another interesting announcement made by the club at its meeting indicated the completion of plans for more study groups. The first is for the study of modern social and economic problems, using as a textbook, "Social Planning for Canada." This group will meet on Wednesday, January 27, at the home of the president, Dr. Olga Jardine, 30 Douglas Street.

The newly-organized drama-study group will meet for the first time on Monday, January 27, at the home of Mrs. Cook, Rockland Avenue, when Mrs. Ross Napier will speak on "Modern Drama." Members of the "Modern Novel" and "Modern Poetry" study groups are invited to attend this, and may eventually decide to amalgamate and form a group for the study of literature.

The next general meeting will be held on Saturday, February 15, when the speaker will be Dr. Isabel Morris of the University of British Columbia, her subject to be "German Literature."

Paul Robeson Off to Europe

New York, Jan. 17.—Paul Robeson, famed negro singer, who spends much of his time in London, sailed from here last week for Europe aboard the French liner Ile de France. He was accompanied by Mrs. Robeson. During the last few weeks the great singer has been appearing in concert in many American cities, and has also sung over the radio.

Other passengers on the Ile de France with Mr. and Mrs. Robeson were Baron Robert de Neron, captain of the French bridge team, which met the Four Aces team of New York, accompanied by his three companions, Sol A. Rosenblatt, Pierre Wertheimer and the Countess Madeleine de Bryas.

Protest Sale of Beer and Wines

The Fairfield United Church W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. C. A. Fields, Linden Avenue, yesterday, Mrs. E. E. Dent having charge of the devotion, Mrs. S. Purber reading a portion of Scripture and Mrs. Alfred Dowell giving a resume of the second chapter of the study book.

The president, Mrs. G. G. Green, presided during the business session, and letters were read from various parts of the mission field. The annual departmental reports were read, which proved most interesting, especially that by Mrs. Dowell on mission bands and baby bands. The C.G.I.T. has affiliated with the senior society, thus establishing a "three-fold family" for the W.M.S.

Miss Edith Hopkins, the treasurer, showed in her report that the year's objective had been reached. Rev. Dr. E. A. Henry conducted the installation of officers for the new year. Arrangements were made for delegates to attend the Presbyterian in February and for supplying the society's share towards the supper. Three new members were welcomed.

A petition protesting against legislation permitting the sale of light wines and beer in restaurants was circulated and signed. A cordial vote of thanks was extended to the press for courtesies during the past year, and at the conclusion tea was served by Mrs. G. Piercy's circle and a social half-hour enjoyed.

Ethel Marie Stickney, aged twelve, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Stickney of 4144 Skinner Street, and is shown in the costume in which she won a first prize at the Show Boat during the summer. She is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. E. Orchin, Ontario Street.

WHY FISHING IS HER HOBBY

Associated Press
Danville, Ill., Jan. 17.—To her application for a 1936 fishing license Mrs. Edward Jefferson appended this note: "My mother's maiden name was Fish and my father's name was Herring. I was born at Fountain Creek in the sucker state of Illinois. Now you know why fishing is my hobby."

Members of the local chapters of the P.E.O. Sisterhood were entertained by chapter M on Wednesday afternoon, January 15, at the Y.W.C.A. Mrs. Frank Berton gave a most entertaining address on "Drifting Down the Yukon," telling of the experiences which she had with her husband and their two small children when they made the journey of over four hundred miles in an open boat from White Horse to Dawson. Mrs. Edna Godson sang two delightful selections, "Mellande in the Wood" (Goetz) and "Emmell's Philosophy" (Goetz). She was ably assisted at the piano by Mrs. Muriel Shepherd. Tea was served during the social hour which followed.

The many friends of Mr. Victor S. Waram, who was chief clerk and assistant manager of the Empress Hotel until his departure for Vancouver some years ago, will be interested to learn that he and Mrs. Waram celebrated their silver wedding a few days ago in the mainland city. Members of the staff of the Terminal City Club, of which he is manager, gathered to honor him and Mrs. Waram on the happy occasion. Mr. J. M. Leith, on behalf of the staff, presented the couple with a handsome silver service and silver rose bowl, with a bouquet of crimson roses. Mrs. Waram, though taken by surprise, responded graciously and Mr. Waram thanked his staff for their loyal support and expressed sincere appreciation of the gift.

In honor of Miss Miriam Church, a popular bride-elect, the members of the September 1936 class of nurses in training at the Jubilee Hospital, tendered her a surprise linen shower yesterday evening at the home of her parents, Rev. E. F. Church and Mrs. Church, Johnson Street. A novel procedure was adopted for the presentation of the gifts which were cleverly modeled into a "dummy" and wheeled into the drawing-room on an invalid's chair, to be offered to the honored guest. Those present included the Misses E. Bradley, M. Mackenzie, E. West, U. Pawcett, I. Sharpley, K. Duncan, M. Gamon, T. Edwards, C. McArthur, S. Walton, D. Carter, D. Player, A. Bruhn, M. Bowen, C. Ferguson, V. Wood, E. Mackenzie, L. Strickland, M. Smith, D. Baker and K. Morrison.

Miss Marjorie Thompson, who is to be married in the near future, was the guest of honor when Mrs. J. Adam, Mrs. J. Ricketts, Mrs. McKellican and Mrs. W. Waite held a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Waite, Newport Avenue, on Wednesday evening. The gifts were placed beneath a dainty parasol. Games and music were enjoyed. Mrs. C. Badger, violinist, and Miss Doris Palows, pianist, adding to the enjoyment of the guests. Later, supper was served, the table being prettily decorated with a centerpiece of pink daisies. The invited guests included: Mrs. J. Schmelz, Mrs. D. Burnett, Mrs. M. Todd, Mrs. J. Winters, Mrs. M. Laird, Mrs. J. Norris, Mrs. H. Hall, Mrs. H. Thompson, Mrs. C. W. McAllister, Mrs. C. Laing, Miss A. Reid, Miss M. Laird and Miss Jean Badger.

MENTAL WORK IS IMPORTANT

Social Workers Now Use Mental Hygiene, Central Exchange, Meeting Hears

"Mental hygiene is one of the new processes being used now by social workers. It is a point of view regarding mental health, the real question being how to prevent mental disease rather than how to cure it," said Mrs. Kenneth Barr, secretary of the Victoria Central Exchange, when making her report yesterday to the annual meeting of the social service organizations connected with it.

"This mental hygiene stands to-day in somewhat a similar position to which public health stood thirty or more years ago," the secretary said. "Yet the services rendered in the matter of prevention and control of disease by public health authorities are taken for granted as vitally necessary for the good of the community."

LOOK FOR CAUSE
"In the past we have sought for some one remedy for our social ills. We have tried legislation, social reform, education, even prohibition. We have tried to solve our difficulties by looking for a cure instead of looking for the cause. A psychiatrist searches for the fundamental causes of human maladjustments, both in the physical and social sense. He deals with the whole matter individual by individual, knowing that the strengths and assets of a community are largely in the way in which individuals have found solution for their problems, personal and social."

"There is no rigid boundary between the normal and the abnormal," Mrs. Barr's report continued, "but at best a fluctuating point which rises or falls according to our standards, to the pressure upon us, and our assistance—each one has his or her potential breaking point—and we need all the help we can get, and all the modern technique of social practice, if we are to arrive at the solution of our problems. Without the solution we cannot have any lasting or sound social advancement."

Among the agencies using the Exchange during the last year were the Child Guidance Clinic, the Provincial Psychiatric Adult Clinic and the Provincial Mental Hospital.

how to deal with them when, not if, they arise. When difficulty is found in the home in solving these problems, this clinic offers sympathetic, thoughtful advice, based on the most modern ideas and scientific methods. Psychiatrists realize that if the child is not adjusted to his environment and his behavior problems solved as a child, he is likely to become a 'problem' adult. Supplementing this service is the Provincial Psychiatric Adult Clinic, where adults presenting personality difficulties may have advice and treatment in the solution of their problems."

State Health Bill Lucidly Outlined

Highlights of the proposed State Health Insurance Bill were explained by Dr. Allan Peebles at a meeting of women held in the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon under the joint auspices of the "Y" and the local chapters of the P.E.O. Sisterhood. Mrs. Edwin Tomlin presided.

The speaker commented on the tremendous interest being taken in the bill, as shown by the many suggestions received for its improvement. "Never has there been a more sincere effort to find out what the people of the province wish with regard to a proposed scheme," he said.

The proposed legislation had been drawn up to meet the needs of a wide section of the community who, owing to force of circumstances, were unable to meet the high cost of illness, with the result that the public health was being impaired.

Dr. Peebles explained the plan of financing and the beneficiaries under the proposed bill, and at the close answered a number of questions, showing the interest taken by the women in the subject.

From Downing Street to Old Country Hostelry

A hostess to the Queen's taste is Isabel MacDonald (left), who has become Britain's most celebrated inn-keeper since she took over Ye Old Plough Inn. Her sister Sheila (right) succeeds to the post of hostess at her father's home.

By MILTON BRONNER

London.—The distaff side of Ramsay MacDonald's family takes the news spotlight these days, now that the former prime minister has retired to the comparative obscurity of Lord President of the Council.

And Isabel, in particular, is the centre of attention because of her spectacular success as the proprietor of historic Ye Old Plough Inn at High Wycombe, in Buckinghamshire, which she has just taken over.

So widespread has been the interest in the inn that traffic jams have developed on nearby roads. Among her customers have been the notable official business life for Ye Old Plough Inn is only a short drive from Chequers, country home of Britain's prime minister.

When he became premier, she just naturally became the chateaux at No. 10 Downing Street, where the head of the government lives. Just as naturally she soon met the Queen and that famous and stern figure of character took to her at once. Isabel's modesty, her abstention from booze and lipstick and cocktail, her perfect taste and tact appealed to Queen Mary, who pronounced her "a very charming girl."

MOUNTAIN NAMED FOR ISABEL

As hostess of No. 10 she entertained statesmen, diplomats and princes. She has traveled both in the United States and Canada. After her visit

In 1927, Canada named one of the Rockies Mount Isabel.

One of her main ideas in buying the famous old Buckinghamshire Inn (which dates back to 1621, is mentioned in Popsy Diary and was once patronized by King Charles II), is that it will enable her to give employment to some of the personal servants her father had when they lived at No. 10 Downing Street.

Sheila—pretty, dancing-eyed dimpled, twenty-four-year-old Sheila—highly says she will not be a partner in the inn. She expects to be a customer. Also she will probably run the paternal house in Hampstead. Going from the North London Collegiate School to Somerville College, Oxford University, she proved herself equally with books and in sports.

SHEILA BECOMES DAD'S HOSTESS

Through her sister's business adventure, Sheila, youngest of the MacDonald clan, becomes the hostess of her father's home, succeeding to the post that Isabel filled so well in the days when they lived at No. 10 Downing Street.

All of Ramsay MacDonald's children keep busy, for idleness is not a family trait.

His son, Malcolm MacDonald, is Minister for the Dominions in the new cabinet. His other son, Alastair, is already established as a rising architect. One of his daughters, Joan, is wife of a successful Scottish doctor.

News of Clubwomen

Navy League I.O.D.E.—The monthly meeting of the Navy League Chapter I.O.D.E. will be held on Monday evening at 7.45 at the headquarters, Union Building. A full attendance of members is requested as nominations will be received.

St. Mark's W.A.—The Women's Auxiliary of St. Mark's Church held their regular meeting on Tuesday. A card party will be held on Monday evening, January 20, at the home of the president, Mrs. McMillan, 8529 Oak Street, and on Friday afternoon, January 21, a silver tea and card party will be held in the Parish Hall.

Progressive Party—The Equilateral Suburban League held its regular party in the Church Hall on Monday evening, January 20, at 8.15 o'clock. Mrs. P. Harris will convene the affair and Mrs. M. Gillespie and Mrs. T. O'Leary have charge of refreshments. Scrip prizes will be given.

Sing-song at Y.W.C.A.—Miss Margaret Ryan, girls' work secretary at the Y.W.C.A., assisted by her committee, has arranged a young people's sing-song to be held at the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday evening, January 19, from 9 to 10 o'clock. Miss Eleanor Swain will be soloist and the community singing will be conducted by Mr. J. W. Bueker of the Centennial United Church Choir. Refreshments will be served.

"Gleaners" Met—The "Gleaners" held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. J. W. Gibson, 822 Linden Avenue. The meeting was opened by a short devotional service led by Miss Jean Munro. After a short business period, a temperance talk was given by Miss Joyce Robinson, followed by a solo by Mrs. R. Wilson. Miss Hazel Stewart gave an interesting talk on the work of Mission Circles throughout the country. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Catholic Y.F.C.—An enjoyable social evening was held by the Catholic Young People's Club recently. A novel form of entertainment was introduced by allowing the dancers to play games with "phony" money. Mary Sparrow, delightfully costumed in a cowboy outfit, gave an exhibition of tap-dancing. Kay Roberts and Roma Truett were well applauded for their rendition of a popular number during the evening.

Junior Catholic League—The January meeting of the Junior C.W.L. was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Nora O'Connell, the president. Sixteen members were present and a new member, Miss Winnifred Cadwallader, was welcomed. Plans were completed for a series of telephone bridge parties to be held during February under the leadership of Miss Agnes Grant. There are to be cash prizes for the highest scores in auction and contract bridge. The attendance prize was won by Miss Mona Doyle. The study club will meet on January 21 in the library of the bishop's palace at 8 o'clock. All members interested are asked to be present with a copy of Tennison's poems. Miss Nellie Cannon kindly offered the use of her home for the next meeting to be held on February 11. Rev. Father Albury, the chaplain, then read a summary of Catholic action throughout the world during 1935 and other articles of interest. Dainty refreshments were then served by the hostess, after which the meeting adjourned.

Delegation to Quebec Premier Says Too Many in Government Jobs

Quebec, Jan. 17.—The question of women and girls in employment of the Provincial Government was a "complex" one, Premier L. A. Taschereau yesterday told a delegation of 200 members of La Jeunesse Libérale of Saint Roch that protested "against the too large number of women and girls" in the government service.

"The question exists everywhere—it is a relic of the war," Premier Taschereau said. "As far as I am concerned, there is not a single woman or girl working in my department." Preference was given to men wherever possible. "In cases where we discover certain female employees do not need to work we replace them."

The premier took the occasion to defend the female civil servants against "insinuations" he said had been made recently. "The great majority—even all—are virtuous. I deplore the fact that in public meetings certain speakers made accusations and insinuated doubts into the public mind in this regard."

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

By MARY E. DAGUE

Carrots, some authorities tell us, are, next to onions, the most efficient blood purifiers among the vegetables, and rank next to spinach in iron content. And mothers who have a hard time getting cod liver oil into their families will be glad to know that vitamin A is found in carrots. Too. An enormous amount of carrots would have to be eaten to supply the equivalent of the vitamin A found in a tablespoon of cod liver oil, however.

The most benefit is gained from the vegetable as a beautifier when eaten raw. Cutting carefully in a small amount of water minimizes loss in food value.

Don't forget that carrots make a splendid stretcher for the more expensive vegetables. Carrots and peas, creamed cauliflower in a border of buttered carrots, asparagus with carrot sticks—almost any vegetable combines artistically with the rich golden root.

BRIGHT PLATES SPUR APPETITE

The vegetable dinner has a definite place in winter meal planning, since it provides healthful elements in which "meat and potatoes" meals are deficient.

Children particularly need vegetables all through the year, and a vegetable plate as bright as an artist's palette with the true colors of the vegetables is sure to tempt them.

Plan to use at least two green vegetables for the sake of their color. Peas, beans, spinach, Brussels sprouts, broccoli, kale, southern dandelion greens—a trip to the market will convince you how easy it is to serve green vegetables.

For the golden tones there are carrots and squash and rutabagas and sweet potatoes, and canned golden bean corn as well as yellow wax beans.

Tomatoes and peas supply the red touch among the fresh vegetables, while the red kidney beans are most effective among the dried and canned varieties.

Glace sweet potatoes make an excellent centre to build around. Here is an easy way to make them.

GLACE SWEET POTATOES

Four medium-sized sweet potatoes, 1/4 cup brown sugar, 1/4 teaspoon grated nutmeg, 1 cup water, 3 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons white corn syrup.

Parboil sweet potatoes in their skins for twenty minutes, just long enough to be able to skin them easily. Cool and skin. Arrange in a baking pan and sprinkle lightly with salt. Make a syrup of sugar, syrup and water, adding nutmeg and butter after syrup begins to boil. Pour over potatoes and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.), basting frequently.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Breakfast—Orange juice, cereal, cream, shirred eggs, toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Beef broth with liver balls, red and white cabbage salad, canned peas, chocolate brownies, milk tea.

Dinner—Cream of onion soup; vegetable plate, celery hearts, suet pudding with custard sauce, milk, coffee.

SUNDAY SCHOOL SOCCER

Soccer games to-morrow for teams in the Sunday School Football League are as follows:

Centennial vs. Emmanuel Baptist, Central Park, lower ground; referee, Fletcher.

Metropolitan vs. Lake Hill, Central Park, upper ground; referee, P. J. Woodley.

Kick-offs at 10.30 o'clock.

Lake Hill line-up follows: Kitchen, Little, Min, Underwood, Cullen, Hunt, Wray, Newman, Spiller, Hayward and Dunn. Reserves: Harper, Simpson and Coles.

Giantess Claims World's Record

Miss Droyson, Eight Feet Tall, Appears in English Pantomime; Sister Is Seven Feet Four Inches

London, (Special Correspondence).—A novel record is claimed by Miss Elsie Droyson, who came to London recently to appear in a pantomime. She is eight feet tall and weighs 385 pounds.

On the strength of these dimensions she claims to be the world's largest woman.

With her are her married sister Brunhilde, who is seven feet four inches tall and weighs twenty-six stone one pound, and Brunhilde's daughter, Ruth, who at fourteen years of age is already over six feet in height.

Everything the sisters wear has to be specially made. Their shoes are also fifteen and their gloves 14. Their parents were of normal size and their daughter and three sisters living are not exceptionally tall.

When they arrived in London, this week, they found no taxi was big enough to take them from the station to their hotel—so an ambulance had to be chartered.

They are playing in a Birmingham pantomime.

Elsie, though single, has had many proposals. At the moment, however, her mind is on other matters. For one thing she would like to grow a little taller still!

LIONS HER ENEMES

At the circus—more miraculous than ever—are two other outstanding women. This time outstanding for the way they handle animals.

One woman tames lions. The other tames sea-lions.

They are star turns at the Olympia Circus, London's monster circus at which once every year the pick of the world's circus stars gather with their animals to entertain British children—and their parents—from the week before Christmas until well into the New Year.

Patricia Bourne, aged twenty-two and Laneshire, is the lion tamer.

"Lambie" she calls them—but they behave like very fierce lions when she pulls five of them through their tricks in the huge iron cage that is brought into the ring just before she makes her entry.

Although they snarl and snap—with all the fiery spirit of full-grown healthy lions—Patricia makes them stand on stools and even play leap-frog. At this the children, who form 50 per cent of her audience rock with delight and simply yell for more.

The sea-lion tamer, Elsie Wallenda, is clever in another way. She makes her clumberose fat sea-lions trip about like young "fairies" after colored balls. Their noses twitched with joy—and anticipation of the fish which rewarded them after their tricks.

The balancing feat—with balls, bottles and sticks—that the sea-lions perform are amazing.

CHILD CONDUCTS ORCHESTRA

Patricia and Elsie are young for their work—but little June Masters, hailed this week as a musical prodigy, holds the age record.

She is just seven, but recently conducted a remarkable performance of Elgar's "Land of Hope and Glory" at Polkstone. The orchestra was composed of thirty children, all older than June. In order to conduct them, she had to be lifted on to the conductor's stand.

At the end, the audience of 1,000 applauded so enthusiastically that little June nearly fell off her stand when bowing her acknowledgments.

As an encore, she conducted while the orchestra played a minute by Handel.

Her sole comment to the press, who wished to interview her after the performance was, "I should be in bed really. But this is ever so much more exciting."

DRESSING HAIR

Hair has to be very much dressed these days to be smart.

In London, night signs are the great favorites. These include jeweled stars, signs of the Zodiac and crescent moons in diamonds.

Combs are also much worn. Some of them have jeweled tops which unsway and contain lipstick, perfume or powder.

Fresh flowers, too, are popular. One girl at a dance this week had five pink carnations arranged in a row, half hidden in the curls at the nape of her neck. They looked most attractive and young looking. Red roses are also being worn by brunettes who fancy they have claims to Spanish beauty.

A "WHALE" OF A DRESS

A dress—taught to the figure by whalebone—is causing comment in fashionable Berlin circles, where the fashion is "inspired." It is understood, by official Nazi designers.

The dress, for evening wear, is backless, and it has no shoulder straps, arm or neck bands to hold it up. It is the essence of daring—and there seems no reason for it to stay in place. But it does—thanks to whalebone. Strips of it are sewn inside, vertically from the waist upwards.

Fashion writers here condemn the fashion as "restricting."

BIG SEVEN OF MAJOR HOCKEY

Calgary's Sweeney Schirmer stepped out today with the longest lead any sharpshooter has had for weeks in the National Hockey League's big seven. The American winger got three assists against Canadiana yesterday evening, bringing his total to twenty-two points, three more than Charlie Conacher, Toronto, with whom he had been tied.

Larry Auriel, Detroit, knocked three other players out of the running with his goal against Chicago. His marker broke the tie he was in with Buzz Boll, Toronto; Frank Boucher, Rangers; and Zach Lexie, Detroit. Standings follow:

Conacher, Toronto	11	8	19
Thompson, Chicago	10	8	18
Dillon, Rangers	10	8	18
Auriel, Detroit	10	8	18
Thoms, Toronto	7	11	18
Welland, Boston	8	10	18

LOUGHRAN LOSES AND CROWD BOOS

London, Jan. 17.—Tommy Loughran, former United States light-heavyweight boxing champion, yesterday evening dropped a ten-round decision to Tommy Farr, twenty-two-year-old Welshman, at Albert Hall. Each weighed 151 pounds.

Cries of "robbery" and boos filled the hall for twenty minutes after the referee's decision was announced. Many sports writers gave the American seven of the ten rounds.

U.B.C. Will Quit American Football

Vancouver, Jan. 17.—University of British Columbia will play no more American football, but instead will engage in a strenuous programme under the Western Canadian Inter-collegiate Rugby Union for the Hardy Cup. It was decided yesterday at a meeting of the university athletes. The status of the American football competition was studied by an advisory committee, which met on November 19, and it was an the findings of this committee that to-day's decision was made.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

MONOPOLIES are few in golf and have become rarer with time and growth of the game since Willie Park Sr. and the Morrisons held sway in the early years of the British open—the sixties and seventies. The vagaries of the royal and ancient sport, do not lend themselves to consistency insofar as championships are concerned. The British had Jamie Anderson, R. Ferguson, J. H. Taylor, Harry Vardon, James Braid and Harold H. Hilton, but champions have found it tougher to repeat or comeback with each succeeding season.

Robert Tyre Jones II came close to having a strange hold on everything in sight for eight years, and actually did bottle up the entire works with his grand slam of 1930.

Walter Hagen copped both the British Open and P.G.A. in 1924, made it four in a row in the P.G.A. and topped it off with victories in the British open of 1928 and 1929. Leo Diegel's specialty was the Canadian open, which he captured in 1924 and 1925 and 1928 and 1929, and carried his 1930 bid to a playoff with Tommy Armour.

William Lawson Little has come to the fore as grand high-keeper of all the important amateur titles, but these are a few of the exceptions necessary to prove the rule.

Golf championships cannot be packed away.

There are other and somewhat flagrant cases of monopoly in connection with certain tournaments, however. One is Macdonald Smith's devotion to the job of winning the Los Angeles open. Another is Gene Sarazen's hogging of the Miami open.

There are more aspects to this peculiar combination in restraint of prize money than appear on the surface. When Smith started winning the Los Angeles open as an every spring job, he was the professional at the Lakeville Club on Long Island. Smith left Lakeville; but he didn't leave the job of taking the long end in the Los Angeles open.

When Smith quit the rolling terrain of Lakeville, Sarazen quit Fresh Meadows for the veteran Scot's man's golf house on the north rim of Long Island. Lakeville liked Sarazen and Sarazen liked Lakeville. The Italian also was fond of the Miami open.

Gene began winning it immediately and has succeeded in continuing the practice virtually uninterrupted.

Sarazen hasn't rolled along with his old valor since the Masters' Tournament last April, when he did the seemingly impossible in holing out his 230-yard brassie second on the fifteenth of the Augusta course.

Sarazen's game around the greens has developed some serious lesions.

In the Miami Biltmore open, the stocky squire of Connecticut took three and often four strokes from within thirty-five and forty yards of the stick. Often he went to three from the edge of the carpet.

Albert Hill, England's great, middle distance runner of a decade ago, believes that in S. C. Wooderson of the Blackheath Harriers, London, Britain has the "world's greatest mile," contending that he is better than such men as Glenn Cunningham of the United States or Jack Lovelock, the New Zealander. Hill maintains that Wooderson's aptitude for mile running is so strong that he will reveal himself next summer as one of the athletic wonders of the age, and that he should figure very prominently in the Berlin Olympics. Although Wooderson twice defeated Jack Lovelock last year, Hill considers that he had not then reached his track maturity, and is emphatic in his view that there is not another country in the world with a mile of his possibilities.

Hill, who has trained Wooderson from an early age, should know what is required of an Olympic champion. He sent the British flag to the mast twice during the Antwerp Olympics in 1920, winning the 800 and 1,500 metres. After having watched Lovelock defeat three of America's best milers, Cunningham, Bontrouth and Venke, in the easiest sort of fashion at the Princeton invitational meet last June, it is not difficult to imagine that Wooderson, who twice conquered Lovelock, might indeed prove a menace in the 1,500-metre title in Berlin. Wooderson has yet to turn in a very fast mile in comparison to the record-breaking times Americans have become accustomed to in the last few years, but that does not mean a thing. Like all British runners, he is only concerned with winning a race; the time is of little consequence.

Connolly Scores Penalty Shot To Beat Maple Leafs

Marks Five Winless Games For Canadian Club; Chicago Whips Detroit

Americans Beat Canadiens Badly

Rangers 1, Toronto 0. Chicago 4, Detroit 1. Americans 5, Canadiens 3.

When Toronto Maple Leafs recover from their worst slump in two seasons they may be able to look back and laugh at the successful penalty shot fate tossed into their overflowing bag of troubles but today they were in no frame of mind to chuckle about it.

While Toronto fans did some rather hysterical waiting for the first leaf this year, the players themselves brooded over their hard luck yesterday evening when New York Rangers defeated them 1 to 0 with Bert Connolly's penalty marker.

That loss capped a string of five winless games since December 28 when they defeated Rangers 3 to 0. They have scored only seven goals in five games since—one of them a gift from Aurel Joliat, Canadiens—and have picked up only one point from a 1 to 1 tie with Montreal Maroons.

AMERICANS LEAVE CELLAR

To-day the Leafs found themselves only two points up on New York Americans, who crawled out of the National League's Canadian division cellar and ended Canadiens' three-game winning streak with a brilliant 8 to 3 win over Habitués at Montreal. Canadiens dropped back into their familiar last place after a two-day outing in the third spot.

It was just as well for Rangers did win yesterday evening, for Black Hawks, showing no signs of the disintegration reported rampant among them, downed Detroit Red Wings 4 to 1 in Chicago and further tightened the close race by twining around his own net, drove the puck between George Hainsworth and the upright. It was the second penalty shot scored this year. Paul Thompson, Chicago, got the other.

Toronto incurred all five penalties of the game, one of them a ten-minute misconduct to Charlie Conacher for protesting a minor to Frank Finnigan in the second period. They had a slight margin on the play all evening but could not produce scoring plays.

Americans had no trouble of that sort in the Montreal game, a startling reversal of the hockey played at New York Tuesday, when Canadiens defeated Americans 1 to 0. Red Dutton's team could do nothing wrong as they beat Wilt Cude for two goals in the first, added five in the second and topped their performance with a third period goal.

Art Chapman led the New York scorers with two goals and an assist but Sweeney Schriener, his line-mate, also got three points.

Americans got fourteen scoring points in all with Neil Stewart, Eddie Wiseman, Joe Jervis, Lorne Carr, Harry Oliver and Carl Voss adding to Chapman's counters for their grand total.

Old Aurel Joliat, whose one goal was enough to beat America Tuesday, found two had no impression on them yesterday evening. After he had aided Pete Lepine tally in the second period, he scored his first in the third.

Hawks got a pair-period lead with Johnny Gottselig's goal in the game with Detroit and when Larry Aurie tied it in the second, Mush March put them in front again. Romnes and Tommy Cook added markers in the third to make the decision certain.

Teams and summaries follow: Rangers—Kerr, Coulter, Johnson, Boucher, Brydson, Keating, Dillon, Patrick, Murdoch, Connolly, Mason, Bill Cook, Ayres, Starr, Heller and Watson.

Toronto—Hainsworth, Horner, Blair, Thomas, Finnigan, Boli, Conacher, H. Jackson, Kelly, Metz, Art Jackson, Davidson, Day and Clancy.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

Strange as it seems, the Detroit River, a short stream or strait connecting Lake Erie with Lake Saint Clair, handles more shipping than any other American river and through it passes more freight every year than all the foreign traffic handled by all the seaports of the United States on both the Pacific and Atlantic.

This twenty-eight-mile waterway is one of the most important commercial shipping lanes in the world. Through it comes all the grain shipped by water from the Northwest and great quantities of iron ore from Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, bound for eastern manufacturing centres, find their way through the Detroit River.

According to government figures, the river handled about 66,000,000 tons of freight in 1933 and more than 73,000,000 tons in 1934. The total foreign traffic for all United States seaports for 1933 was 43,000,000 tons and for 1934 it was 47,000,000. Great Lakes shipping has the advantage over the usual ocean shipping in that highly specialized equipment has been developed there for handling of bulk freight, such as iron ore, coal, grain, stone, etc.

The unfortunate political differences that existed between Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr caused not only the death of Hamilton in a duel with his antagonist, but also the death of his eldest son. First son, then father, died on the same spot fighting duels that were caused by the Hamilton-Burr feud.

In 1801, Hamilton's eldest son, Philip, a law student just out of Columbia College, challenged George Eacker, who had praised Burr and attacked the elder Hamilton in a public speech. Young Hamilton was killed. In 1804, Burr challenged the elder Hamilton. They met at the same place. This time the father was fatally wounded.

INTERNATIONAL RACING CLASSIC

Coral Gables, Fla., Jan. 17.—Racing commissioners from seventeen states meeting here yesterday in third annual convention, received with enthusiasm a proposal of Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the New York commission, for an international racing classic.

The classic would place in competition at two, three or four-year intervals at rotating sites the finest horses the world breeders and trainers produce, one from each nation.

TIGER DAULA WINS AGAIN

Big Hindu Heavyweight Wrestler Defeats Mayes McLain at Vancouver

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Jan. 17.—Tiger Daula, the massive Hindu grappler from India, had another victory marked on his state to-day after taking a straight two-fall victory from Mayes McLain, Iowa giant in the headline bout of a card here yesterday evening.

The Tiger weighed 242 pounds and McLain 230.

The first fall was awarded Daula in the second round of the scheduled eight-round match when McLain fell out of the ring and was unable to return before the regulation time.

The Hindu finished his opponent off in the next round with a hammer throw.

King Elliot, 218, a recent arrival here from Australia, gained an odd-fall victory over Brother Jonathan, 232, erstwhile Mormon of Salt Lake City. Elliot was awarded the deciding fall in the fifth round of the scheduled six-round tussle after Jonathan had taken a fall in second round with a headlock and the Australian had evened it up in the fourth with flying mare.

"Wee Willie" Davis, 247, Virginia, took the only fall of his match with John Preberg, 246, Chicago, in the fifth round with a body press.

Cassy Kananian, 215, San Francisco, and Sam "Legs" Leathers, 215, Texas, went four rounds in another event to a draw. There were no falls.

Checked by a 1 to 1 draw with Clyde last week-end, Aberdeen should have no trouble against the visiting Ardrians, near the bottom of the standing.

It is expected a capacity crowd will welcome Glasgow Rangers at Throx Park. Supporters are looking for a win against Hibernians.

Celtic will have to play an extra two games to draw even with Aberdeen. Rangers have played two more than Celtic.

Falkirk and St. Mirren are providing the fireworks in the second division, with the former leading by a scant margin. The leader is at home to King's Park, and the Saints meet Stenhousemuir at Larbert.

English Football Champions Need Win Badly To-morrow Over the Wednesday: Leading Sunderland Tackles Stoke City; No Outstanding Scottish League Tilts

London, Jan. 17.—Humiliated earlier in the week in the English Cup competition by Port Vale, low-placed second division Sunderland, leading scorer in the country, is not enthusiastic about its meeting with Stoke City in league play to-morrow.

While there is no danger of the strong Roker Park eleven losing its place at the top of the first division, there is little doubt the cup reverse will affect the team's play. Stoke is one of the league's strong clubs and can be counted upon to provide opposition. Sunderland returned from Port Vale defeated 2 to 0 in a third-round cup replay.

Huddersfield Town, six points behind the league leader, is away to Derby County, and a strong battle is expected for second place. Winning 2 to 1 from Manchester City this week, the Town replaced Derby in second place by a one-point margin.

JAMES MAY RETURN

Against Sheffield Wednesday at Sheffield, Arsenal may reintroduce Alex. James, famous international forward, in its attack. The Gunners are lagging in the league race nine points behind Sunderland, and need to make a big effort if they are to establish a record by winning the championship for the fourth year in succession.

In the second division, Charlton Athletic should have little difficulty in retaining its one-point lead over Sheffield United at the expense of Hull City. The City is in last place in the standing with thirteen points.

The fast-climbing Sheffield team plays Tottenham Hotspur at White Hart Lane, and will be lucky if successful in snatching a point from the third-placed.

Luton Town entertain Northampton in the southern section after the third division, and is likely to capture maximum points, although the bootmakers have improved in recent games. Coventry City, one point behind Luton in the standing, is at home to Exeter City. Tranners Rovers are fighting away in the northern section, and now are tied with Chesterfield for leadership. Tranmere looks an easy winner over Carlisle, but Chesterfield will have to fight hard against Walsall.

Glasgow, Jan. 17.—The regular weekly round of games in the Scottish Football League is without an outstanding battle to-morrow, but the doings of the leaders will be closely watched as first place is within the grasp of Glasgow Rangers or Celtic. Aberdeen is pacing the speeding champions by one point and the Celts by two.

CANADIAN MISS AFTER SKATING HONORS

A pretty Toronto girl, nineteen-year-old Gladys Ferguson, sailed for Europe recently to compete in the world speed-skating championships at Stockholm, Sweden, on February 1 and 2, as well as a big preliminary meet at Oslo, Norway. Miss Ferguson will go on to the winter Olympic games in Germany and hopes that officials there will allow her and other female stars to give a demonstration of their ability on the shining blades.

Knockout Certain In Bout To-night

Fine Wrestling Card Is Billed

A fine three-bout card bringing together out-of-town wrestlers in two of the matches and local lads in the preliminary tussle, will make up the weekly show to be presented by Promoter Fred Richardson to-morrow evening in the Tillicum gym. The opener will be at 8.45 o'clock.

The card follows: Leathers vs. John Freberg, eight ten-minute rounds.
Semi-windup—Tiger Joe Marsh vs. Babe Smallinski, five eight-minute rounds.
Preliminary—Reg Hopkins vs. Al Garnett, four five-minute rounds.

Joe Louis and Charley Retzlaff Both Predict They Will Win Bout at Chicago By Kayo Route; Detroit Negro Is 10 to 1 Favorite

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Joe Louis, the Brown Bomber, is ready to set off another blast of dynamite to-night.

Louis will meet Charley Retzlaff, lantern-jawed rancher with a terrific right hand punch, in a battle scheduled to go fifteen rounds or less at the Chicago Stadium. Indications to-day were that 20,000 spectators would witness the bout, with gate receipts around $100,000.

Louis, with Carners, Baer, Uzcudun, and Levinson strewed along his march, was a one to ten shot in all discussions, but curiously existed as to just what the Brown Bomber would do if Farmer Retzlaff drove one of his knockout punches smashing against the Louis chin. Retzlaff, victorious in fifty-five out of sixty-eight battles by knockouts, promises to fight Louis instead of running away and also promises to hurt him.

PREDICTS KNOCKOUT
When Louis shuffles into the ring expecting to achieve his twenty-third knockout in twenty-seven fights at the expense of Retzlaff, he will be accepting his fourth fifteen-round bout in his nineteen-month-old professional career.

"I'll knock Louis out. I'll hurt him with my right," said Retzlaff. "He'll get knocked out," mumbled Louis.

"Somebody's sure to get knocked out," chimed in Jim Mullen, matchmaker.

Ring sharps agree that any puncher of Retzlaff's ability is capable of up-setting even the ring's greatest killer—if he throws the punches. Retzlaff will not be outweighed more than four or five pounds, as he expects to go into the ring at 196.

Louis, who earned $304,000 with his fists last year, may pick up another $50,000 to-night, as he will receive 40 per cent of the gate, radio and moving pictures. Retzlaff will receive 17 1/2 per cent of the gate receipts.

As a matter of insurance, Mike Jacobs, promoter of the Twentieth Century Club of New York, has an option on Retzlaff's services for three fights, if he should triumph. Jacobs also has a five-year option on Louis and has a hand in the promotion of to-night's bout, which is scheduled to start at 10 p.m., Central Standard Time, and will broadcast over one of the NBC networks.

KENNEL CLUB TO HOLD SHOW

Many Entries Received For Event To Be Held To-morrow Evening

The Victoria City Kennel Club parlor show, which will be held to-morrow evening at 7.30 o'clock in the Club Continental building on Yates Street, promises to be one of considerable interest with entries from practically every kennel in Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt having been received.

It is anticipated that at least thirty breeds will be represented, including Pekingeses, pomeranians, pugs, smooth and wire-haired fox terriers, Scottish terriers, Cairn terriers, Irish terriers, alderdale terriers, Sealyham terriers, dandie dinmonts, west-highland white terriers, English, Irish and Gordon setters, golden, Labrador and curly retrievers, springer and cocker spaniels, Chesapeake Bay dogs, whippets, dachshunds, pointers, St. Bernards, Newfoundlanders, German shepherds, rough collies, Shetland sheep dogs, Doberman Pinschers, bulldogs, Boston terriers, dalmatians and chow chows.

Two classes for children, which are always popular, will be the opening numbers at 7.30 o'clock, and the prizes will be awarded to those who handle their dogs to the best advantage before the judge.

Norman Lord has been appointed master of ceremonies. In order that the show will be concluded at a reasonable hour two judging rings will be in operation at the same time. With these arrangements and also the appointment of four judges the show will no doubt be run off in quick time, which will enable patrons to stay for the judging for the special prizes.

Seating accommodation for 200 will be provided, and in order to ensure their comfort the electrical heating plant will be in operation.

Four officials will take entries at the door from 6.30 to 7.30 o'clock.

Japan Is Out Of Davis Cup Tennis

New York, Jan. 17.—Japan's withdrawal from 1936 Davis Cup competition yesterday came as a disappointment to United States Lawn Tennis Association officials who hoped that the Japanese would challenge in the North American zone.

A shortage of funds and a lack of players strong enough to make suitable partners for Jiro Yamagishi prompted Japanese authorities to withdraw their team.

MEETING SET FOR JAN. 31

General Meeting of Fish and Game Association Arranged; Large Agenda

Twenty questions pertaining to bettering of outdoor sports on Vancouver Island were given preliminary discussion at the executive meeting of the Fish and Game Association of Victoria and District this week.

The most important question was that of the wanton killing of deer that has prevailed for a number of years now, and will be discussed at length at the general meeting.

The date set by the executive committee for the holding of the general meeting was January 31. It has not as yet been decided where it will be held, but members will be notified as soon as this is decided.

The education of sportsmen as to the all-time value of fish and game on the island will be one of the problems the association will endeavor to undertake.

All members and prospective members are invited to attend the general meeting.

ALL-BLACKS PLANS MADE

Extensive Entertainment Programme Arranged For Visit of Famous Rugger

Executive committee leaders were proceeding to-day with entertainment and other plans for the visit of the New Zealand All-Blacks, scheduled to arrive in Victoria on January 28 for their exhibition game against the local rep team the following day.

On Tuesday evening the executive of the British Columbia Rugby Union will entertain the visitors at a dinner in the Union Club. Earlier in the afternoon they are scheduled to drive to the drydock and to make a call at the Naval Barracks.

On Wednesday morning the New Zealanders will be driven around Victoria and will return to the Empress Hotel to lunch with the Canadian Club. Following the game in the afternoon, they will assemble for a dinner in the hotel at which provincial and civic dignitaries will be present. The entertainment programme will be topped off with a ball in the hotel.

The chairman of the committee in charge of the different arrangements are: Entertainment, Russell Ker and A. H. Cox; tickets and advertising, Fred N. Cabell; grounds, John Worthington; ushers, H. M. McGiverin, and transportation, Stuart Robertson.

Louis Coupeuz and Jack Pratt Outstanding Performers In 5 to 1 Victory of Buckaroos Over Vancouver Lions at Rose City

Portland, Jan. 17.—The Buckaroos of Portland were sitting alongside the Vancouver Lions to-day on the top rung of the north-west Hockey League ladder after they had handed the Lions a 5 to 1 setback on Portland ice yesterday evening.

Louis Coupeuz and Jack Pratt, members of Portland's star line, were the standouts of the game. Either one or the other of the pair did the scoring or made the play in every Portland goal.

Taking the offensive from the start the Portlanders raced through the tattered Lions, and at the end of the first period were enjoying a three-goal lead on goals by Pratt, assisted by Coupeuz, Ralph Blyth with Pratt making the play and Coupeuz on a solo effort.

Coupez gets another. The Lions began to come to life in the second session, allowing but one goal when Coupeuz again broke through with Sutherland, but it was not until the last period that they were able to break the ice.

Clint Smith took a neat pass from Lude Palm to beat Andy Aikenshead cleanly for the only Vancouver tally, pass to the waiting Coupeuz for another Portland goal.

During the last session, Referee Bernie Morris handed Blyth and Byron Hextall penalties of five minutes each and sent Frank Sheppard to the box for ten minutes for misconduct.

Teams follow:
Vancouver—Clark, Hutton, Cressy, Smith, O'Neill, Hextall. Subs: F. Sheppard, Palm, Dyck, Fridham.
Portland—Aikenshead, Arbon, Coupez, Blyth, Pratt, Coupeuz, Suther-land, Kempson, Hemmerling, McCarty.
Referee—Bernie Morris.

SUMMARY
First period—1, Portland, Pratt (Coupez), 6-0; 2, Portland, Blyth (Pratt), 12-17; 3, Portland, Coupeuz, 17-21. Penalties: Scott Cressy.

Second period—4, Portland, Coupeuz (Sutherland), 23-28. Penalties: Coupeuz, Sutherland, Dyck, Palm (2).

Third period—5, Vancouver, Smith (Palm), 12-22; 6, Portland, Coupeuz (Pratt), 15-17. Penalties: Blyth, Hextall, 5 minutes each; Sheppard (10 minutes misconduct), Sutherland.

Cheapest in History;
Lemons Also Down

Due to a "war" between growers in California, imported lettuce is now selling at the lowest prices in history.

In local stores the lettuce is quoted at five cents a head, or two for fifteen and ten cents a head for extra-large sizes. The usual price was ten cents a head for small sizes.

Growers in the Golden State estimate it costs $75 an acre to produce lettuce. At present prices they are receiving $25 an acre.

LEMONS DOWN

Prices for large lemons are three to four cents a dozen cheaper to-day. Poor demand on the eastern markets has caused the slump, wholesalers said. Their prices were $2 a case lower.

The reduction only applies to larger sizes, as smaller lemons are scarce. The first Coachella Valley grapefruit of the season made its appearance on wholesale row to-day.

The movement of rhubarb is reported to be much better. It is selling at two pounds for fifteen cents, which is considered low at this time of the year.

California celery is selling well with prices reasonable. The potato market is becoming more active. Prices, however, remain steady.

California spinach, the first to arrive this year, is reported to be of good quality.

There are a lot of local Brussels sprouts on the market.

TOMATOES SCARCE

The demand for Mexican tomatoes is good, but ripe stock is scarce at the present time. These tomatoes arrive green and have to be ripened in storage rooms on wholesale row.

The bulk carrot price has risen. Wholesale figures are thirty cents a sack higher. The rise, however, is not expected to have much effect on the retail price.

The butter market is holding firm despite a slackening off in the east. One local store is importing New Zealand brands.

Beautiful pictures on life and missionary conditions in Japan will be given by Miss Mary Bentley of the Japan Evangelistic Band, in the Central Baptist Church, to-night at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be under auspices of the young people's society.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Forty-two Chinese, who pleaded guilty through their counsel, F. C. Elliott, to charges of being found in a gaming house, were each fined $8 by Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court this morning.

Thomas E. Chester, manager of the Hotel Vancouver, came over from Vancouver on business yesterday afternoon, and after conferring with J. K. Hodges, manager of the Empress Hotel, left by the midnight boat on the return trip to the mainland.

A lecture in conjunction with the regular monthly exhibition of sketches under the auspices of the Island Arts and Crafts Society will be given in the clubroom, Metropolitan Building, Courtney and Government Streets, on Wednesday evening, January 22, at 8 o'clock. The subject will be "Lawrence and Arabia," personal reminiscences by J. H. Norton.

Twelve tables were in play at the progressive five hundred game of the Lake Hill Lawn Bowling Club, held in the Community Hall. The winners were as follows: Ladies, first, Mrs. D. Robertson; second, Mrs. Baker; third, Mrs. Calross; gentlemen, first, S. Campion; second, D. Knight; third, Mr. Milnes; ten-bid, D. Williams and W. Peddie. Another game will be held next Monday evening, at 8:30 o'clock.

The city's water board, at its next meeting, will consider extending the period covered last year by special summer irrigation rates, Alderman Andrew McGavin, chairman of the committee, said yesterday. Alderman McGavin favors introducing the lower rate fifteen days earlier than it was brought into force in 1935 in order to give city garden owners a better chance of improving their holdings. It is expected the same rate as that put into effect last year will be sought.

A damage action is proceeding before Judge P. S. Lampan in the County Court in which Wilfred Prudholme, taxi driver, is claiming $90.50 for loss of work and damages to his car from Elizabeth Comerford, carrying on business under the name of the Rex Taxi and the Red Taxi. Plaintiff claims that Albert Pick, an employee of defendant was to blame for a collision which happened at the intersection of Montreal and Superior streets on November 23. A. N. Robertson is appearing for plaintiff and P. J. Sinnott for defendant.

WILL DISCUSS
LOCAL HARBORCol. A. W. R. Wilby to Confer
With City Council on Matter

Harbor negotiations between Victoria and the federal government will proceed between the City Council and Col. A. W. R. Wilby, agent for the Department of Marine, it was learned in a letter from J. P. Forde, district engineer of the Federal Department of Public Works, received at the City Hall to-day.

The communication informed the city clerk Mr. Forde had interviewed the Central Harbor Board on subjects put forward by the City Council, but its members had informed him that such matters were outside their jurisdiction, which is restricted to incorporated harbors only.

"However," the letter said in part, "Mr. Hawken, Assistant Deputy Minister of the Department of Marine, informs me that he will discuss these subjects with Col. Wilby and will ask your council on his return to Victoria."

Three thousand Canadians have made reservations to attend the Vimy pilgrimage under the auspices of the Canadian Legion, said Mr. Macnichol, and more than 300 of these live in British Columbia.

In closing the speaker said that much good would arise from the Canadian Legion Dominion convention which will open in Vancouver on March 22.

Brief talks were given by C. A. Gill and Captain Burgess J. Gadsden of the Pro Patria branch.

COL. L. A. CAREY
CALLED TO RESTNoted Sportsman and Soldier
Succumbs in St. Joseph's Hospital

Col. Lewis A. Carey of 560 Rithet Street, retired military officer and one of Victoria's most widely-known and respected sportsmen, passed away yesterday at St. Joseph's Hospital, aged sixty-four years. The remains are reposing at Carter's Funeral Home, and the funeral service will be held at St. Stephen's Church, Mount Newton on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. Montague Bruce officiating.

A native of Guernsey, Channel Islands, Col. Carey came to Victoria at the age of nineteen, but returned to England for a time, later taking up his permanent residence in British Columbia. He had been a resident of Victoria, on and off, for forty years.

WRITING BOOKS ON SPORT

An ardent disciple of the outdoors, he was a noted angler and shot, and was for many years a valued member of the Victoria and District Fish and Game Association. To him belonged the distinction of being the first to catch a salmon on a fly, more than thirty years ago. He had an intimate knowledge of British Columbia's forests and streams, was an authority on all matters pertaining to hunting and fishing in the province, and was indefatigable in advocating game conservation.

Since his return from overseas service during the Great War, he devoted much time to writing on sporting subjects, and his book, "My Gun and I," published in England, was widely known. At the time of his death he was revising the copy of a second book that already had been accepted by the publishers. This book he had entitled, "The Wandering Angler."

DISTINGUISHED SOLDIER

Col. Carey had a distinguished military career. He served in the Matabele campaign and the Boer War, and re-enlisted with the Durham Light Infantry on the day that Great Britain declared war against Germany in 1914. He was in the first Battle of Mons, receiving the Mons Star for this distinction, and was wounded at the Battle of Loos.

After being discharged from hospital he took command of a Welsh Regiment, and later was placed in command of a camp in Ripon with 10,000 men under him.

For a short time he engaged in the real estate business in the city. After retiring from the firm of Carey and Tunnard, in 1929 and 1930.

Surviving him are his widow, one son, Rex, and two daughters, Betty and Peggy, all at the family residence, 560 Rithet Street.

A.Y.P.A. COUNCIL
HEARS REPORTS

The monthly meeting of the Victoria and District Local Council of the A.Y.P.A. was held last evening. The president, E. Gray, in the chair. Very satisfactory reports were received from the telephone bridge and Fellowship Hour committees.

It was announced that on Thursday evening, January 23, a meeting will be held at the Memorial Hall at 8 o'clock, of the committee working in conjunction with the Columbia Coast Mission Board.

Mr. Jones of the board reported on the being made in preparation for the drive for C.C.M. funds which is to be held during the first week of February. Captain John Antell and Dr. Connel from England have agreed to speak in the churches on the Sunday upon which the campaign is launched.

DROVE WHILE
LICENSE HELDElmer King Given Jail Term
For Driving When Under Suspension

Motorists whose driving licenses are suspended must realize they are not permitted to drive cars during the period of suspension, and if they do so they must be prepared to take the consequences, said Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court this morning when he imposed a jail sentence on Elmer King, a youth who pleaded guilty to the offence.

The prison term was five days.

The plea of guilty was accompanied by a plea for clemency by C. H. Tall, defence counsel, who said a jail term would mean the accused would lose his job.

Shortly after the offence was committed the accused had seen the chief of police and been given a warning, after which it was understood the charge was to be dropped. Mr. Tall told the court.

C. L. Harrison, prosecutor, said he would not withdraw the charge without proper grounds and in this instance he did not think circumstances warranted it. He understood the accused had his license suspended for a charge under the Motor Act of failing to return to the scene of an accident.

Mr. Tall objected, saying there was no evidence of this, but Mr. Harrison said he was only carrying out his duty in placing known facts before the court.

The suspending of licenses was for the protection of the public, the court said, and although it was unfortunate if the accused lost his job he could not avoid punishment. The license was suspended on October 8, last year, for six months.

On a second charge, of failing to have his car equipped with proper brakes, the accused was fined $10.

PARTNERS KNOW BIDDING

Each Insists on Own Best Trump, But One Stops When Other Arrives at Limit of Contract

By WM. E. MCKENNEY

We say grudge is a partnership game. I guess that is why it gives every bridge player the right to complain about his partner.

"If partner had only done this or that," is the paramount excuse of almost every bridge player. There's one notable exception and that one is J. H. Lemon, of Washington, D.C., newly elected vice-president of the American Bridge League.

Mr. and Mrs. Lemon have been termed the "bridge sweethearts of America."

clubs, flinging that the club suit is worthless to North, while the diamonds and hearts will be of assistance to South, if the hand is played at clubs.

North's pass of five clubs is very fine, as it shows that he clearly understands the type of hand his partner holds.

The J-rnd was held to five clubs, as West opened the king of hearts and then, when East got in with the ace of clubs, he shifted to a spade.

TEST CRICKET IS HALTED BY RAIN

Wellington, New Zealand, Jan. 17.

Rain interrupted play in the second unofficial cricket test match between a New Zealand eleven and the touring Marylebone Cricket Club team to-day.

When stumps were drawn two hours before the scheduled closing-hour the home players had obtained 178 runs for seven wickets.

A strong wind bothered the batsmen considerably, but James Parks, Sussex bowler, found it of great assistance. He took four wickets for 53. Hon. C. J. Lyttelton, Worcestershire, is captaining the English team in place of E. R. T. Holmes, unable to play because of a bruised hand.

SCORELESS TIE

Belfast, Jan. 17.—Derry City and Celtic Seconds fought a scoreless draw yesterday in their Irish Football Cup first round replay. Last Saturday the teams drew 3 to 3.

LOCAL PLAY NEXT WEEK

"Three Cornered Moon" Will Be at the Empire Theatre Next Tuesday Evening

When the curtain rises on "Three-cornered Moon," the next production of the Little Theatre Association, the public will see produced one of the most cleverly written of modern plays. Not only has the author combined a gripping story with unusually comic situations, but he also has drawn his characters with considerable dexterity. The play will be at the Empire Theatre next Tuesday.

The role of Kenneth Rimplegar is the most clearly defined of the male characters, and offers a rich field for characterization. Harry Eke, who is well known to Victoria audiences, handles this part skillfully.

The cast is well balanced, and Director Lamb, who directed "Ten-minute Alibi," assures the public that "Three-cornered Moon" will be a good show.

The cast includes Fraser Lister, Austin Howard, Frank Taylor, Bill Findlay, Harry Eke, Margaret Swanson, Christine MacNab, Peggy Josephs and Sheila Boyd.

Special Kiddies' Show at Orpheum

A special three-feature entertainment bill has been arranged by the management of the Little Orpheum Theatre for the "Pal Matinee," which opens for the first time to-day. This offer enables two children to attend the show on a single ticket.

The first feature is a thrilling western, "Home on the Range," with Randolph Stuart and Jackie Coogan; "The Kentucky Kernels," stars Wheeler and Woolsey, with Baby "Spanky" McFarland; while the third feature is "College Rhythm," with Jack Oakie.

LITTLE ORPHEUM THEATRE

The cast of Paramount's "College Rhythm," now at the Little Orpheum Theatre, numbers two of America's foremost radio stars. They are Joe Penner of the "wanna-buy-a-duck" fame and Lanny Ross, tenor of the Showboat Hour. Jack Oakie, Helen Mack, Lydia Roberti, Mary Brian and the 150-girl chorus of the All-American Co-eds are featured in this film. Norman Taurog directed.

"IN PERSON" AT DOMINION

Ginger Rogers Has Leading Role in Story By Samuel Hopkins Adams

"In Person," the new attraction at the Dominion Theatre to-day, comes from the same pen which wrote the sensational successful screen play, "It Happened One Night."

The pen belongs to Samuel Hopkins Adams, popular American author. Among his novels are "Wanted, A Husband," "Common Cause," "Secret of Lonesome Cove," "Great American Fraud," "Flying Death" and "Revelry."

In "In Person," Adams again turns to sophisticated comedy-drama, giving Ginger Rogers an opportunity to display her heretofore little revealed talents in that direction. The story concerns the comic and romantic entanglements which develop when an egotistical actress falls in love with a handsome young man who refuses to accept her celebrated charms as an offset to her exhausting arrogance.

In his mountain cabin he disciplines her, but it is not long before he reciprocates the actress's romantic urge.

In "In Person," EKO Radio picture, makes her debut of Ginger Rogers as a solo star.

Capitol to Show Four Comedians

The Marx Brothers in "A Night at the Opera" will be here at the Capitol Theatre on Saturday. The Marx Brothers have not only surrounded themselves with their funniest story, but with an exceptional cast, which includes such favorites as Walter King, Siegfried Rumann, Margaret Dumont, Edward Keane and Robert Emmet O'Connor. Sam Wood directed the picture, which was written by George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind. Kaufman was the author of "Cocoanuts" and again has outdone himself in producing a sparkling comedy for the three Merry Madcaps.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Actors come and actors go, but the play goes on. With the constant shifting about of its cast, "Accent on Youth," the Broadway hit which is being shown at the Playhouse Theatre, in the Paramount film version, seems destined to become a Broadway institution. The picture stars Sylvia Sydney and Herbert Marshall in the leading role. The play, at the opening of its run, starred Nicholas Hannen, brought from London, in the part, and Constance Cummings.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

The usefulness of a stunt man in western pictures seldom exceeds three or four years due to the severe injuries that are usually incurred. Yet Eakina Canutt, featured player in "Paradise Canyon," now at the Columbia Theatre, has been a double for stars in dangerous feats for well over seven years and is constantly in demand for risky accomplishments. Canutt was born and raised in Yakima, Washington, in the heart of the rodeo country and he had carried off roping and riding awards before he was out of his teens.
